HOPE TO END PARLEY DEADLOCK

Pony Express Riders Take Trail Again; Ride For Coolidge

Horsemen Repeat Performance Of Seventies In South Dakota Today

Deliver Lone Letter To President From State Of Wyoming

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

RAPID CITY, S. D., July 11.—The boys who used to carry the mail from Omaha to 'Frisco when the west was nothing but a prairie were back in the saddle today, retracing the old Deadwood trail. It was the pony express riding again.

Gone, however, were the dangers of the road which beset them in the mad day of the 70's. Gone, also, the tortuous mountain trails, now replaced by the graded, graveled roads of a latter day civilization.

Letter to President.

And in place of the saddle bag crammed full with mail was a single letter.

That letter was an invitation to President Coolidge from the people of Wyoming urging him to visit the state—any portion of it—even, as Gov. Frank Emerson put it, the "dude ranch country" at Yellowstone park.

Early this morning, Butch Bell rode out of Cheyenne with the governor's invitation, the first of 27 riders who will span the 270 miles to the summer White House in the Black Hills. Throughout the night the relay will continue until, at about noon tomorrow, Dakota Clyde Jones, only real cowboy of the presidential entourage, delivers the calfskin upon which the invitation has been burnt.

Best Horsemen.

The best horsemen along the route are carrying Wyoming's bid for a presidential visit, and their mounts are the best specimens of horse flesh that can be assembled. Francis E. Warren, grandson of the senator from Wyoming, is the second man in the relay, and before the day is through several of the men who comprised the pony express in the days when it meant something will have ridden a 10-mile stretch of the journey.

Governor Emerson and a party of prominent Wyoming citizens are preceding the riders in automobiles and will be on hand at the state game lodge when Jones, astride "Calvin Coolidge", delivers the invitation into the hands of the president.

It is sad to relate, however, that—outside of color stuff for the movies—little good will come from the gesture. Mr. Coolidge already has indicated he will not venture outside the state of South Dakota during his vacation.

"New Castle people who expect to go on automobile tours should be careful of drinking water and should not drink water from wells or springs which are not marked 'safe'" said Dr. W. L. Steen, city health officer.

Steen issued this warning inasmuch as typhoid fever last year was brought into New Castle by tourists drinking water from springs and wells along highways and other roads which contained germs.

"The people of New Castle should eat sparingly of meats and heavy foods but drink a pint of milk daily" Steen added as another 'summer health rule'.

More Suspects Are Arrested In Hunt For Slayer

B. & O. Officers In Youngstown Shoot Down One Suspect

NO IDENTIFICATION OF SUSPECTS YET

Officers In Large Area Hunting Slayer Of Detective Strayer

While new suspects have been reported in the search for the murderer of B. and O. Detective U. L. Strayer, no identification has been made as yet of any of them, although every lead is being followed.

Youngstown authorities reported a negro tallying somewhat to the description of the man wanted, being shot by Detectives Claude Richardson and George Roth, near Salt Springs road, outside of Youngstown. The two officers approached a negro trespasser on the B. and O. tracks and as they started questioning him he is alleged to have pulled a gun. The two officers opened fire, one of the bullets passing through the man's head. He died in St. Elizabeth's hospital. The remains will be viewed by local men to determine if he is the man wanted.

His name is said to have been Robert Pate, aged 35, of Hazlewood, Pa.

One in New York State.

Another suspect has been reported in Canandaigua, N. Y., the information being that a negro is in the hospital there as the result of an automobile accident. Lieutenant Karl Wright will probably detail a man to check up on this suspect.

Apparently every police department within a radius of 200 miles is interested in the case as suspects are being picked up in many cities. The murder of Strayer has aroused the wrath of brother officers in this section and they are determined to bring the slayer to justice if it is at all possible.

Start Survey At East Brook

State Men Start Work On Route From East Brook To Volant

Surveying on the proposed concrete road between East Brook and Volant was started this morning, according to the district engineer of the State Highways department.

The work of surveying for a new state road involves a goodly amount of field work as well as much office work on the plans before the details can be all worked out, plans and specifications made ready for road building contractors and it is not known just when actual construction might start on this project or even whether actual construction will be started this year or next.

But authorization for the project has been given by the State Highways department in Harrisburg and a corps of surveyors were placed upon the work this morning. Their work will consist of finding the best grade and the amount of cuts and fills as well as to see if any change in the right of way is of advantage or necessary.

The proposed road which was placed on the list of secondary state routes at the last session of the Pennsylvania legislature and chosen by the county upon which to exspend a por-

Hold Suspect For Gruesome Double Crime

Bodies Of Two Women Are Found Hacked To Pieces In New York

FORMER JANITOR GRILLED BY POLICE

Women Are Slain In Cellar Of Brownstone Mansion In New York

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 11.—As the crack detectives of New York's homicide squad made efforts today to piece together evidence in the gruesome double slaying of two women, whose bodies were hacked to pieces and the parts hidden in widely-separated spots in two boroughs, Ludwig Lee, 38, a former sailor, was subjected to a grilling interrogation. He denies complicity in the ghastly crimes, but the police have expressed themselves as confident that they have "the right man."

The murdered women, Mrs. Elizabeth Brownell, 65, and Mrs. Alfred Bennett, 40, apparently were slain in the cellar of a staid brownstone house in a quiet residential section of Brooklyn. The major portions of their bodies were found in three ash-cans in the cellar. Other parts were found, wrapped in blankets scattered among the shrubbery of a nearby churchyard.

A pair of legs, believed to have belonged to one of the women, were found Saturday morning in Battery Park, Manhattan. The other gruesome discoveries were made yesterday.

Bodies Mutilated

Police cannot reconcile themselves to the belief that robbery was the only motive for the brutal slayings. The bodies of the women had been terribly mutilated, hacked and torn into several pieces with axes and saws. The weapons with which the murders were committed were found in the basement of the home where Mrs. Brownell lived.

Lee, who is a Norwegian was employed by Mrs. Brownell as janitor. He knew Mrs. Bennett also, police declare, for it was from Mrs. Bennett that the other woman purchased recently the house in which she lived and kept boarders. He identified the pieced-together bodies of the two women.

Lee is formally charged with homicied. Two other men are held as material witnesses.

To Open Sewer Line

Crews from the department of sewers were preparing to open the sewer line of the murder house, in the belief that additional missing parts of the bodies may be found.

Leroy Brownell of Gloversville, N. Y., arrived at Brooklyn police headquarters early today after being notified of his sister's death. He brought with him the woman's nephew, Guy Baldwin, also of Gloversville. They will make further identification of the body.

Mrs. Bennett, the other slain woman, was the mother of four grown children.

A short time before the two murders were discovered, the body of a man, hacked to pieces in similar fashion, was found in a cellar on the Manhattan East Side. He had been dead a year. Police do not connect this with the other crimes.

Funeral Plans Being Made For Kevin O'Higgins

Coroner's Jury Fails To Lean Identity Of Three Assassins

GREAT SECRECY IS BEING MAINTAINED

Too Early To Determine Political Result Of This Assassination

(International News Service)

DUBLIN, July 11.—"Wilful murder by three men, unknown," was the verdict returned today by a coroner's inquest into the death of Kevin O'Higgins, vice president and minister of justice and foreign affairs for the Irish Free State.

The inquest was held in the Black Rock town hall, near the spot where O'Higgins was assassinated yesterday. After the inquest the body was removed to the Mansion House in Dublin where it will lie in state until tomorrow night. Then it will be moved to St. Andrew's church where it will lie in state until the funeral Wednesday morning.

Great Secrecy.

With the police and the government maintaining great secrecy, the theory is being advanced that the assassination was one of personal vengeance.

O'Higgins was one of the firmest leaders in the Irish Free State and was credited generally with being responsible for the decision resulting in the execution of many of the rebels who fought the Free State during its early days. Many believe that friends of executed rebels had sworn vengeance upon O'Higgins and that they carried out their oath yesterday when he ventured forth unguarded to attend church.

It is still too early to determine the political effects of the assassination, but the government has taken steps to prevent disorders. There are rumors of a possible new civil war, but such reports are discounted in responsible quarters.

The body of O'Higgins lies in the banquet hall of the Mansion House, with a crucifix clasped in the hands and another six-foot crucifix draped in black erected at the head.

President Cosgrave and Governor Healy were among the first to view the body and pay their respects and then thousands of others stood long hours in line waiting to view the body.

Although the Republicans have repudiated the assassination the anti-Republican sentiment is running high.

Latest British Proposal Being Given Attention

Plenary Session Scheduled For Today Has Been Postponed

CRUISERS STILL ARGUMENT CAUSE

Not Likely U. S. And Japan Will Accept British Plan

(International News Service)

GENEVA, July 11.—Renewed efforts to break the naval disarmament deadlock followed the postponement of the plenary session scheduled for today.

Conversations were held regarding the latest British proposal on the differences on cruiser tonnage. The British delegates are now suggesting that a compromise may be reached by greatly increasing the age limit of cruisers, thus avoiding any immediate new construction.

American delegates regard this proposal as of secondary importance, declaring it does not go to the heart of the problem, since Great Britain continues to insist upon a preponderance of cruisers, whether new or old. The Americans claim the deadlock revolves around Great Britain's demands for an excess of cruiser tonnage and it cannot be broken by a decision to let Great Britain have a preponderance of old cruisers instead of an advantage in new cruisers.

The British also suggest that the powers be permitted to replace cruisers reaching the ordinary age limit, at the same time keeping every fifth cruiser which is replaced. The British assert their old cruisers are useless for offensive purposes, but may be used for policing trade routes. Americans claim this proposal increases rather than decreases naval strength.

The days are beginning to drag a but, and the time is seemingly slow for I'm marking each day as it passes by, till its time to be ready to go. Here's Monday today, which will leave but four till we shove off for points in the east and where we will go or how we will fare, I'm worrying not in the least. For an open road and a purring car is all that a fellow should want, there's places to go and there's places to see, without making much of a hunt. And where we will go and how long we will stay, isn't taking much of our time, we're only waiting till Saturday, and we're gone, weather's eighty-nine.

initely owing to the assassination of Kevin O'Higgins, vice president and foreign secretary of the Irish Free State. Official announcement of the postponement said that this action was taken because O'Higgins was a member of the British delegation. Recently he spent a few days here.

Although the official statement attributed the postponement to the assassination of Kevin O'Higgins, observers declared the real reason back of the delay was a desire to prevent the break-up of the conference.

The Hon. W. C. Bridgeman, chief British delegate, had asked for the plenary session, but it is said that he realized that if it were held today with the cruiser tonnage question still in dispute that the parley might break down and that world opinion would hold Great Britain responsible for the failure of the conference.

Some observers are of the opinion that Great Britain will not back down in her stand, but will seek delay in order to raise new issues which may make it possible to shift the blame for the failure of the conference to the United States or Japan.

The plenary session which had been scheduled for today was anticipated with a good deal of apprehension on all sides and the postponement does not alleviate the tensity, but merely defers it, for, as yet, it appears to be nothing more than a postponement.

Kevin O'Higgins was the Irish delegate at the conference and had only returned to Dublin a few days ago. It is expected that steps will be taken to pay him tribute.

The postponement decision was reached after Bridgeman had conferred during the night with the Japanese and had called a meeting of the British delegates and the dominion delegates.

Compares Elmer Gantry And World's Best Seller

Dr. C. H. Holcomb Discusses "Preacher Novel" From His Pulpit

Says Novel Is Atheistic Propaganda; Bible World's Best Seller

At the First Christian church on Sunday, the pastor, Dr. C. H. Holcomb, took occasion to compare "Elmer Gantry" with the "World's Best Seller," saying among other things, the following:

Some critics have said that Elmer Gantry is the greatest preacher novel of these days. But those who know preachers know that such critics are blissfully ignorant of preachers, and those who know the novel know that the author was so much ashamed of his portrayal that in the introduction he even announces that the characters of his novel are all ficticious.

Elmer Gantry no more represents the average preacher than Andy Gump represents President Coolidge. Elmer Gantry is atheistic propaganda. The author is an atheist, and belongs to the Atheistic Association incorporated in New York. This novel is not literature for it portrays nothing only the method used by atheists to undermine the fundamentals of our civilization. If we have come to the time when such spiritual vagabonds are to guide us in the ways of religion then we have also come to the time when we can accept Bolshivism as a solution of our government problems. A would- be intellectual of the modern type in Kansas City invited Sinclair Lewis into his pulpit on which occasion Lewis invited God to strike him dead, and gave the Most Holy only ten minutes to do the job, because it was not accomplished in that length of time, was sufficient proof to him that there was no God.

Any preacher that will stand for such monkey shines in his pulpit is a traitor to the commission under which he serves which reads as follows: "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel."

The best seller every week in the year is not the new systificate eratic vuglarism like the before mentioned novel but it is the word of God, the Bible. It is the most wonderful book in all the world. Thomas Carlysle said, "I call the Bible a part from theories about it one of the greatest things ever written with pen."

It is wonderful in its origin, it is a revelation from God to men, it is wonderful in its antiquity for centuries it was considered the oldest book in the world. Earlier civilizations have come and gone and earlier writings have been distorted but the word of God has come down through the ages undisturbed by mutilation. Many things may be found in the Bible concerning the wrong doings of men and nations. Hypocrisy has been bared. It is also wonderful in scientific accuracy. The Old Testament abounds in scientific illusions.

Ages past before scienticts ever declared that there was a beginning. Modern science now willingly announces that all was void and darkness and chaos before the beginning. This is nothing new for Moses had written centuries before that all was void and darkness covered the face of the earth.

It was many centuries before men recognized that light existed before the sun. La-place was the author of the nebular hypothesis which announces to the world that condensation of gaseous was accompanied by heat which united light. The Bible had announced centuries before that light existed before the sun.

Many centuries past before the wise men of the world recognized that the earth was round, but the Bible declared the sphericity of the earth in that statement, "It is he that setteth above the circle of the earth."

Men had lived many centuries upon the earth before he knew that the atmosphere had weight. Galileo recognized that the atmosphere contained weight, but dared not to say it least he might be put to death. But centuries before Job had announced that God maketh a weight for the wind.

This book becomes the most wonderful book because of its ethics, it satisfactorily explains man's relationship to his God and to others and to himself, and gives advice which if followed will bring happiness.

It is the only book that has ever endeavored to explain redemption in a satisfactory manner. It is the only book that reveals the world beyond the grave. Regardless of the spirits of criticism that now and then shade the paths of progress the Bible remains the best seller in the world and the guide to more lives than any book or person in the world. It becomes the source of comfort in hour of distress and a guide to action for the lives of men in these days of bunglesome facts and treacherous theories.

HUNT ASSASSINS OF IRISH LEADER

showed that five men were involved. The motor car which they occupied had been stolen on Saturday night in Dublin.

Two of the men acted as "look-out" while the other three did the actual shooting.

After he had been shot O'Higgins ran across the roadway and fell upon the sidewalk. The three men who had shot him down turned away assuming that he was dead. O'Higgins raised his hand slightly and the three murders ran back and fired another shot into his body to make sure of death. Then they re-entered their stolen automobile and sped away. Later the car was abandoned and the police recovered it.

Gen. O'Duffy, commander of the Irish Civic Guard, had the last interview with O'Higgins before his death. O'Higgins' las word to O'Duffy were:

"I am dying, good-bye. We have done good work in the past. I hope it is continued on the same lines in the future.

"I forgive my murders."

O'Higgins then directed that a message be sent to his wife.

Fear Violence

Fears have been expressed in London that the O'Higgins assassination may lead to new and widespread outbreaks of political violence in the Irish Free State, unless the Cosgrove Government adopts a strong policy.

The Daily News editorially admits today the possibility of disaster stating that "in a country like Ireland the real danger is that lest an episode of this kind should suddenly rekindle the fires of civil war." The News expresses the hope that public opinion will range itself boldly on the side of law and order.

Asserting that "the curse of lawlessness" still clings to the Irish Free State, declares there are "intricate and subterranean connections between crime and the new politics of Ireland." This paper declares that the Free State never has succeeded in divorcing itself "from the criminal organization by which it was established. Whether this new and horrid crime will do that dangerous, but necessary work, remains to be seen."

The Daily Mail, pointing out that the Cosgrove Government lacks a majority in the Dail, says that "O'Higgins' violent death will further complicate the political situation." It declares that O'Higgins was a power in the government "with a firm relentless mond" and "now that he is removed, the political situation in the Free State is more than dark—it is stormy."

TOLL OF CARELESSNESS

WAR is a monstrous thing. It merits all the measures taken for its abolition and prevention. But wars take fewer human lives than accidents due to carelessness, negligence, inattention and failure to observe proper precautions about which one reads every day.

Time and attention—individual, organized and legislative—are given to safety campaigns, accident prevention and the promotion of safe and careful practice. And still the newspapers are compelled to devote more and more space to news of the hospital and morgue.

Accidents present a problem common to all. Probably for this reason campaigns for the prevention of accidents have been organized movements, conducted by corporations, societies or government agencies. No doubt these efforts have met with a measure of success but none with complete, or even moderately gratifying success.

Perhaps the fault with the accident prevention movements has been the common tendency to think of it too much as a public problem, instead of an individual problem.

Why should there be such a thing as an unpreventable accident, except where the cause is beyond the control of man? It may not be humanly possible, but if every man, woman and child would make it a personal duty to observe the fundamental rules of caution the death rate from accidental causes would be immediately cut to the vanishing point.

THE NON-VOTER

IN THE National Civic Federation is a bureau charged with the task of political education. It has been trying to find out why 40,000,000 eligible voters—about two-thirds of the whole number in the United States—failed to vote at the important elections last year.

To its questionnaires it has received thus are about 60,000 answers, which give all manner of reasons without supplying any upon which definite conclusions can be based. All that the bureau has deduced from those replies is that if the apathy of the voters is to be ended something more effective than oratory and publicity stunts must be tried.

A new plan, therefore, is to be applied for the intensive education of the people in the seriousness of their responsibilities and the grave consequences of their indifference and neglect. Committees on practical citizenship, with many local subdivisions, are to be organized and the oratorical contests on the constitution in the schools are to be further developed and associated with the effort to reach the adults.

Among the suggestions received are many proposing such punitive remedies as the disfranchisement of non-voters, deprivation of income tax exemptions and the revocation of naturalization certificates. None of these, however, is as likely to be effective as the simplification of the election machinery, the shortening of the ballot and the exposure of the evils of government, extravagance, which directly result from political apathy.

A convention is to be held next autumn, where the issues will be discussed under non-partisan auspices but without any attempt to exclude from the program the highly controversial questions that are bound to arise.

HORSE SHOES

IT SEEMS as if the game of horse shoes is being indulged in more this year in New Castle than usual, but it could not be spoken of as a revival; for this form of sport, going back in principle to the discus throwing of the ancient Greeks, has never been absent within the period of written history. In early England it was known as quoits, with heavy iron rings used, and this name and the use of rings persists to a considerable degree, but horse shoes appear to be the official style in this country.

Quoit pitching became so general in England in the fifteenth century that royal attempts were made to end it in favor of archery. One of the writers of the period speaks of "quoiting as too vile for scholars." It is noted, however, that scholars at picnics still take to it about as keenly as any, while archery, much as there is to be said for its gracefulness and test of skill, still requires efforts to keep it alive. Horse shoes, first used by workingmen for lack of quoits, now are made specially for the game, with regulation weight, and finished as elegantly as desired, in gold bronze, nickel plate or aluminum.

So let the ancient and honorable game be fostered in New Castle as elsewhere.

Mistakes are bound to happen in any world so full of men and women.

Dr. Ernest Hatch Wilkins, who has been selected to succeed Dr. Henry Churchill King as president of Oberlin college, is the first non-theologian to head that well-known institution of learning. For some time Dr. Wilkins has filled the chair of romance languages at the University of Chicago. He is a native of Massachusetts and a graduate of Amherst, where he was a college mate of President Coolidge. In his sophomore year Wilkins got an opportunity to travel in Italy and became intensely interested in the Italian language. From that time he began to specialize in the romance language. From 1901 to 1904 he remained at Amherst, teaching French, Italian, Spanish, Latin and the history of Italian art. He won his doctor's degree at Harvard university in 1910.

In our humble opinion the Jewish race is one of the greatest races ever known.

But why discuss it so?

BASEBALL PRAYER

The Christian Journal publishes this prayer, delivered by the Rev. George E. Moody, evangelist, at a baseball game at Knoxville, Tenn.:

"Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we invoke thy blessings on the occasion which has brought this great crowd of people together. Lord, tired business men have taken this time to relax the grind of commercial activity; lawyers have closed their office doors for an hour, stenographers and clerks have wrung down the curtain for one afternoon's relaxation and pleasure. Grant that nothing shall happen to mar the joy of the day. Hold back the rain, let the sun peep through the clouds for a little while.

"Lord, give to the management business acumen to pull each team through the shoals of discouragement and past the rocks of financial embarrassment to a real glorious success.

"May the public support the teams, and discourage in every way anything that might bring discredit on the great national game."

Halemaumau Is Angry.
The First Round-Tripper.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, By N. Y. American, Inc.

The great mouth of Halemaumau or "Pit of Everlasting Fire" on the slope of Mount Kilauea, biggest volcano, is spouting fire. Its huge crater, eight miles round, is filled with boiling lava, a fearful sight, the volcano roaring constantly, fire leaping to the clouds. No wonder the natives gather, bump their heads on the ground and offer food to pacify the goddess Pele, supposed to be angry because Dr. Jaggar, great earthquake authority, has left for a visit to Alaska.

You smile at the simple natives, yet not so long ago the wisest Christians rang their church bells and prayed violently to drive away an invading comet.

Charles Levine, who financed Chamberlin's flight to Europe, and flew with him, plans to fly back. He says, "I want to do something first," and will be the first "round-tripper" in trans-Atlantic flying.

The giant Fokker flying machine ordered by W. R. Hearst will have an interesting baptism. Bertaud will fly the Heart machine from New York to Rome, non-stop, and Hearst has invited Captain Hartley of the steamship Leviathan to be navigator on the trip.

Bertaud will start as soon as the big machine is ready. It will have a wing spread of 64 feet, a wing surface of 630 square feet, will weigh, loaded, 12,000 pounds, and, at Bertaud's request, will be fitted with one 495-horsepower engine instead of three 220-horsepower engines originally ordered. Bertaud prefers one big engine to three smaller, for a long flight.

General Patrick, head of the army air corps, says flying is getting safer all the time, and in ten years will be the safest kind of travel.

Germany's great flying company, the Lufhhansa, carried 93,000 passengers through the air in 1926, with an average of 7,000 pounds of air mail a month—not including great quantities of newspapers sent by special planes. The Lufthansa will operate in 18 European countries this year.

Chain store sales reach a new record. Twelve leading companies did $314,582,087 business in the first six months of this year. Child's restaurants sold nearly $3,000,000 worth of food last month.

Business men and newspaper publishers will notice that chain stores enable advertisers to get fullest value for their money.

Within ten years department stores in big cities will have branches sent out by the "mother store". When John Wanamaker first put carpet on the floor of his store he said to those who were amazed, "It always pays to make the customer comfortable."

Miss Constance Talmadge, excellent moving picture actress, requesting a divorce, says of her husband: "He is the nicest man, but I am out of love."

"Out of love" is modern, typical of our day. Strict logic might confirm the view that if you marry when "in love" you should unmarry when "out of love". There are other considerations, however, that still influence many.

Mr. Coolidge has decided that this country and not our good friends in Great Britain shall decide the character of Uncle Sam's battle fleet. That sounds reasonable, in spite of the fact that steel fighting ships floating on the water are only interesting targets for submarines and airplanes. Useful or out-of-date, the number and size of our ships should be decided in this country.

If you have $81.16 in your pocket you have twice as much cash as the average. The treasury tells us that money circulating July 1 amounted to "only" four billion eight hundred and thirty-four millions, one hundred millions less than last year, $40.58 for each inhabitant.

The real wealth is credit. Four men in the United States, Rockefeller, Ford, Andrew Mellon and George F. Baker, could, with ease, borrow more money than all the cash that is in circulation.

Bank clearings in New York City alone for last week exceeded the clearings of last year by more than a thousand million dollars. Business is good, nothing to frighten anybody except "nervous prosperity".

LOVE

Fame may come in a dozen ways,
Wealth is found in a score of trades,
Every art to its genius pays,
Skill has various ranks and grades,
But soon or late we all come to know,
Love is the same for the high and low.

Man finds love in a woman's eyes;
Something tender and sweet and true,
Be he foolish or be he wise,
Sends him out in the world to woo.
A certain woman must whisper "yes"
If love is to crown him with happiness.

And whether the maid be dark or fair,
Pretty of face or plain to see,
If love abide with the mated pair,
None in the world can happier be;
For rich or poor it is all the same,
Love can exist without wealth or fame.

Honor and love have no degrees,
Richer than others a man may be;
Fame has limits and boundaries,
There are rank and caste on land and sea,
But who is welcomed by love at night
Has all that maketh a king's heart light

Dr. Crane's Editorial

WHAT MAKES GREAT MEN

Very few of the great ones of earth can stand close inspection. They need to be regarded at some distance, either in time or space, for us to realize their greatness.

The height of the high Sierras never becomes apparent to us until at such distance they overtower the hills about them. So as time recedes, the great qualities of great men come out more and more.

Therefore we resent the attempt to scrutinize them too closely. We do not like Mr. Froude's chatter about Thomas Carlyle. We prefer to regard the old literary hero on his pedestal from a distance.

Tradition has built up many pictures of Washington and Lincoln and these enlarge with time. Of course these men were human and it may do us good to realize that.

During the past months numerous volumes have appeared purporting to "humanize" great men and destroy the pedestal upon which they stand.

Washington and Gladstone and Franklin and others have met with such treatment. Lincoln remains untouched. Nor has any attempt been made to write such a biography.

There is something worth thinking about in that fact.

Of all the great men of history, he was the least aristocratic. He always stood with his feet on the ground.

He knew he was homely and didn't try to get around the fact. He never gave any encouragement to any one who tried to make him seem what he was not. It is said he wrote under the author's name in a laudatory biography of himself "The Premium Liar of History."

There is no point in trying to puncture the vanities of a man who has none, or trying to expose what the individual frankly admits himself.

So Lincoln's greatness has stood aloof, because it was a greatness based upon humbleness, the sincerity and the strength of frankness.

"A great man," says Emerson, "is always willing to be little."

When Lincoln had been president for a year and a half, one of his generals gave this description of him:

"A man irresolute, but of honest intentions; a poor white in a slave state among aristocrats; kind in spirit and not envious, and anxious for approval; without the large mind necessary to grasp great questions; uncertain of himself and in many things ready to lean too much on others."

This is the usual method. During the hero's lifetime what he hasn't is stressed; after his death what he has is spoken of. Lincoln was able to see himself as he was, was honest enough to admit what he was, stood upon the solid earth of frankness and thus disarmed those who later seek to capitalize upon the weaknesses of great men.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

FOOD FOR THE TIMID.

There are some timid souls who fear that a very dangerous precedent will be set if Calvin Coolidge should be elected President of these United States next year, the dangerous precedent being an alleged third Term. There are also very timid citizens who still think that the President made a dreadful mistake in vetoing the McNary-Haugen Bill—that by so doing, he alienated from his support many Western States.

It is time that the Third Term Bogey be banished, once for all. If the United States Steel Corporation or any other great institution of this Nation ever established terms of office for their Presidents, and Chairmen of their Executive Committees, and thereby deprived themselves of such efficient executives as Mr. Gary, or Mr. Willard, President of the Baltimore, and Ohio Railroad, because the Board of Directors of the Steel Corporation or the B & O thought it was dangerous to keep a good man in office, there would be mighty little prosperity in this Nation.

If those who do not appreciate true moral courage when they see a fine example of it, had travelled with the President on his trip to the Black Hills, they might have received an eyeful of how right thinking Americans view that virtue. No one will hesitate in saying that the citizenship of South Dakota comprises a very large number of so called Insurgent men and women, who were and are still strong for Governmental Relief for the Farmer. Yet when the Presidential Special crossed the South Dakota Line, that State turned into a 400 mile long cheering section. Farmers stood in fields of young ankle high corn, forgot mortgages and vetoes, and cheered. Senator Peter Norbeck of South Dakota, long an Insurgent, said "We will not go into past records."

Representative Christopherson, Farmer Relief Advocate, said that all doubt concerning a Third Term had been swept away.

The President made no speeches, no promises, and has receded not an inch from the position he took in his veto. An obvious but forgiving reference to this act was found in a poem printed in the Rapid City, South Dakota Journal:

"We want you to know that we understand
What you did you thought was best for the land,
And we want you to feel that we will back you, Cal,
To the last dern ditch, like we do a pal!"

Now that Mrs. Coolidge is back on the job as housekeeper, and the President is now in no doubt as to whether he will get his morning sausage and stack of wheats, the country may well rest easy as to any possible harm that could come to it. Sausages and wheat cakes, as one writer put it, might make Dr. Phillip Lovell, who edits "Care of the Body" simply curl up and die, with a vain effort to express his emotion. It is 40 degrees below zero as a diet, but it sounds so awfully reliable.

Another writer has remarked upon this subject, that he will bet Mussolini drinks Prussic Acid, and Vitriol, and Eats Raw Meat.

Bible Thought For Today

REDEMPTION—The Lord redeemeth the soul of his servants: and none of them that trust in him shall be desolate. Psalm 34:22.

PRAYER—"I know that my Redeemer lives and ever prays for me."

One Year Ago

The deposed Portuguese dictator, Gen. Gomez da Costa, was banished to the Azores.

The frock you intended to buy tomorrow is sold. All of life is like that. You must take a piece of cake when the cake is passed.

Another nice thing to do with leftovers is to place them in a warming pan, cover with milk, and give to the dog.

C. B. D. CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

In NEW YORK

On my way to my office today, walking along Forty-third street, I saw a middle-aged man roughly used by two automobiles. A taxi knocked him down. A second car, following close, ran over him. Instantly, policemen seemed to spring out like a rash. Two picked up the victim and carried him into the Elks Club. Another arrested both drivers. Another took the names of witnesses and gathered up the victim's straw hat and personal effects while a late comer, abashed at not having arrived while there was something important to do, jotted down the license numbers on all the cars in the neighborhood.

* * *

"Was he hurt?" asked a pedestrian of a man standing near me.

"You don't get hit softly by those things," was the answer. "I was hit once, and three ribs were broken. Now I wait for minutes until the traffic stops before I try to cross a street. That man was hit because he was crossing in the middle of the block. They'll arrest you for that in small towns, where there's little traffic, but it goes all right in New York until you get hit. Anyhow, where are all these people going in such a hurry that they can't wait for cars to pass? Surely there's not a fire burning up their property."

And once more I resolved that I'd be more careful about dodging through traffic.

Looking back on the Lindbergh celebration, as millions will for many years, the most notable feature I came into contact with seems to be the triumph of Morris Jacobs, an advertising man from Omaha. Mr. Jacobs, a former Omaha newspaper reporter, went right to the mayor and got a handful of passes and badges covering everything.

"But I can't get around town on foot, can I?" said the westerner to the mayor's committee. So they gave him a big car and a chauffeur. He rode next to Lindbergh up the harbor, up the Avenue, and all through the day. Policemen cleared the way for him whereever he went, and saluted with broad smiles.

Jacobs doesn't know to this day whether he was mistaken for some well-known personage, or whether anybody from Omaha can get the same sort of service if he just asks for it at City Ha!!

Kissing Controversy Thoroughly Explained

Governor Ritchie, Addressing Barristers, Scores Agriculture Department

Department Officials Explain "Essay On Kissing" Satisfactorily

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The federal government's interest in kissing is purely academic.

That, in short, is the reply of official Washington to charges by Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland before the Indiana Bar association, that government bureaucracy throttles American life and menace some of our cherished mannerisms and customs.

Addressing the Hoosier barristers at French Lick, Governor Ritchie cited an agricultural pamphlet entitled "A Vest Pocket Essay on Kissing" as evidence supporting his contention that the interests of government in the United States have reached far beyond their legitimate field.

"The government is no longer the creator and protector of our individual rights, but is rapidly becoming the dictator of them," Governor Ritchie said. "The citizen is told what he may see on the stage, what books he may read, what he may drink, what to cook for Christmas dinner, and not two months ago the department of agriculture distributed throughout the country 'A Vest Pocket Essay on Kissing.'

Officials Startled.

Department of agriculture officials were startled by the revelation. The mountainous card indexes of the publications division produced nothing closer than a bureau of entomology pamphlet in 1900 entitled "Insects Known as the Kissing Bug." At the library of congress, the venerable kissing classic, Marius Baisson's "Universal Anthology of Kissing", bore no record of the department's exhaustive rest in rural home life. Neither did the millions of cards in the files of the government printing office after a clue—the files which are reputed to contain a record of every government publication for more than a hundred years.

It was with a genuine feeling of relief that the perspiring circle in the administration building received news late in the afternoon that the publication which drew Governor Ritchie's fire had been written and circulated through the University of Maryland. It was a mimeographed circular on the ravages of hog cholera, written by a state employe as part of a campaign for sanitary pig pens throughout the free state. The kissing angle was used at the outset for the interest-gripping powers. The piece never was circulated by the federal department of agriculture.

Council Orders Project Finished

P.-O. Company Must Obey Specifications For Repaving Here

City council is tired of delay in repaving of South Mill street and declared today Thorson Company would be ordered to proceed with repaving according to specifications, and should the P.-O. Company not abide by a city ordinance the city of New Castle would sue the company. The P.-O. Company is paying a proportionate share of the improvement cost.

Frank Miller, city engineer, has ordered the P.-O. Company, through Assistant Manager D. G. Graham, to lay concrete beneath the ties.

Graham declares this will result in deterioration, is wrong in principle and will result in loose joints in a few years and consequently jolts.

The P.-O. assistant rail manager, who is an engineer, declares that the practice is not in usage and he declares that ballast is best.

Miller denies this and declares that ballast beneath the ties has not worked out well in this city.

In Miller's communication to council today he said that Graham had said concrete would be laid if the city agrees to pay for it, though he said Friday the cost of the concrete is not the reason he objects to the material.

Councilmen Genkinger and Burns agreed the specifications must be complied with and the Genkinger motion ordering Thorson Company to proceed with the work was passed. If the P.-O. does not comply with the specifications the city will recover from the company in court.

NO RUM RUNNER HE TELLS COURT

He explained to the judge that he had been taking a small amount of liquor home for his friends when the officers arrested him and insisted that he was not in the business of running liquor.

His story carried conviction and he was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to three months to tht county jail. This will be reduced to 15 days if he pays the fine and costs.

PRESENTS DEED FOR STREET SITE

Solicitor Robert M. White today presented to city council a deed from the Carnegie Steel company for 17 feet of ground on the south side of Lawrence street, extending from the east side of South Mill street to the Neshannock river bank. Several days ago the Carnegie company, through Superintendent Robert Tulley, said the ground would be presented to the city.

Council accepted the deed and adopted D. O. Davies' resolution which expressed appreciation for the gift. The plot will make it possible for the city to make Lawrence street 50 feet wide east of the Neshannock river.

Some 52,718 Aliens Admitted During May While 23,-126 Departed

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The United States gained 29,592 in population during May, 1927 as a result of an excess of immigrants over emigrants, the Department of Labor announced today.

There were 52,718 aliens admitted during May, the department said, while 23,126 departed. Mexico led as the largest source of immigrants with 6,856. Canada was second with 5,259 and Germany third with 4,934.

The Italians with 1,051 led the list of emigrants while 1,014 Germans returned home.

There were 1,709 aliens barred from the United States during the month, with 1,291 turned back at the Canadian borders and 190 to Mexico. Failure to present proper visas was the principal cause of debarment.

Eleven countries exhausted their quotas during the month. These were Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Denmark, Hungary, Irish Free State, Lithuania, Persia, Rumania, Russia, Spain and Sweden.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

NOT BUILT FOR COMPANY

"An hour for play!" repeated Peter thoughtfully and shook his head. "No life of a Beaver for me. I want more time for fun. Why a boy couldn't do anything at all in just 60 minutes out of the whole day.

"You don't think an hour is a lot of time to waste?" asked Beaver in astonishment. "Why, we would not have had even that, I guess, if it had not been for great, great grandfather, who believed that all work and no play would make Beaver a dull four-foot. Pooh! You don't know what you are talking about!

"Why, in this hour, just before sunset, I can do a great deal. I can paddle in the pond—in circles, if I like, without having to go anywhere at all. I can nibble on a green twig just for sport—not because I really need to eat it or must think of carrying it to the wigwam for future need. I can talk to my friends. I—"

The boy interrupted him.

"Wigwam! Did you say wigwam?" cried he.

"Of course I said wigwam!" answered Beaver sharply. "What is there strange about that? It is only another name for my house, you know!"

"I'd love to visit your home. Do you suppose I could, Beaver?" asked the boy.

Beaver chuckled and shook his head.

"No!" said he shortly. "I do not. Nothing would give me greater pleasure than to take you to my wigwam as a guest, but, you see it is not built for visitors—at least not for visitors who can live only on the land."

"I can swim and I can dive," declared the boy hopefully.

"So far, so good, but can you breathe under water, and do you think you could travel far in an underground corridor as black as pitch, with the pond at one end and the bottom of the wigwam at the other?"

"HA! HA! HA! THINK OF ENTERING A HOUSE THROUGH THE FLOOR!"

"It does sound anything but inviting!" declared Peter. "I might breathe under water for a while ,but not for very long. I should want to come up for air. As for the black corridor—that would never do at all. I should suffocate in such stuffy quarters!" At this point Peter began to laugh. "You said something so funny, Beaver. Of course, you didn't mean it. You said the bottom of the wigwam was at the other end of the corridor. Ha! ha! ha! Think of entering a house through the floor."

"Well, it may sound queer to you, but that is exactly what you would do if you went as my guest to the wigwam!" declared the gentleman in brown.

"But how? Why?" asked Peter, puzzled. "I thought the place for doors was in the side of a house."

"Not in Beavertown. The doors in a Beaver wigwam—and there are two—are in the floor. One leads into the pantry (the mud bottom of the pond, where we store the food branches), the other into the open pond. Nor is there any opening from a wigwam except by passing under the water. And we Beavers make sure that there is at least three feet of water over the entrances."

Next: "Mistress of the Wigwam."

JOHN WANAMAKER Philadelphia

THE romance of bygone days and distant lands comes to dwell within the American home through the medium of

WANAMAKER PERIOD FURNITURE

HUNDREDS of different interesting copies of early furniture craftsmanship are to be seen. The following comprises but a small part of the collection:

Centuries ago when the art of the Goths still ruled Northern Europe, a cunning French craftsman painstakingly fashioned the original of a great oaken chair—and on it carved the insignia of his Kings.

Among the treasures of an old English family is the original of a fine old shuffle-board table—a heritage from Tudor ancestors.

Reminiscent of the colorful days of Queen Anne is a hunting table reproduced abroad in mellow old woods.

The classic lines of Hepplewhite distinguishes a sideboard, the original of which was brought to America almost two centuries ago.

A mahogany chair by Chippendale at his best—the original now in the Victoria and Albert Museum, London.

Probably the handsomest example of early American Furniture—the Sudbury Court cupboard—reproduced with all its rich inlays of black and white walnut, with post trimmings of maple.

A Duncan Phyfe chair—the original presented by General Lafayette to the first Judge Rowan of Federal Hill, Kentucky.

An old Spanish chair—of the period of Philip II — nail studded and embellished with tooled leather.

From Italy—a rich gilded, hand-painted and decorated chest.

A duplicate of the famous Louis XV table now at Versailles, whereon the Peace Treaty was signed after the World War.

Wherein hundreds of different and distinct faithful Period styles vividly portray the survival and permanence of classic furniture forms

DOWN through the ages—surviving all passing fads and fancies—have come fine old masterpieces of the furniture craftsman's art. The gift of the past to homes of the present—and future.

From England's feudal halls and hospitable manor houses—

From courts and cottages of France—

From sunbathed Spanish casas and cool Italian villas—

From New England farmhouses and early American homesteads—

—Have come rare old furniture pieces vividly portraying the romance of chivalric times, the graces of vanished courts, the naive simplicity of peaceful countrysides, the cultural growth of a youthful nation.

And all the charm of these rare pieces—many of them priceless—has been brought within the scope of practically every home by the sincere worker in furniture reproduction.

Only those good old pieces in the best traditions of their countries and periods have been reproduced. Faithful in line and color—even in that mellowness bestowed by the hand of time. Many of the pieces have been hewn and fashioned of woods as old as the originals themselves. An assemblage that meets the ever-growing demand of the modern home decorator, for furniture and furnishings of permanence in line as well as permanence in construction.

An interesting brochure—illustrating how splendidly these fine reproductions meet the needs of the modern home—will be mailed to you on request. No charge.

Some Woes Of Rookies Are Told By Local Boy At Army Camp

By PAUL E. MONTGOMERY
Special News Correspondent

C. M. T. C., FT. WASHINGTON, Md., July 9.—The first morning began quite early. In fact, there seemed to be some doubt in our minds whether the sun or the bugler got up first, more favoring the bugler. At breakfast Bill Wood's squad was waiting tables. We all have a turn, but his was first. We eat by companies and leave the dining room as we finish eating, regardless of the order. We wash our aluminum in cans of scalding water. The person there first gets his dishwashing done early, and if you happen to be a slow eater you stand in a long line that seem never to move forward.

After breakfast we were assigned our squads. There are eight students to a squad and they try to assign a second-year or red to each squad. These squad leaders report to the sergeant and the fellows clean their tent and vicinity under his direction.

We walk down the street and are told to fasten that button, straighten that tie, put your hat on straight, dust off your shoes, act alive, and goodness knows what all. We are willing and try everything; no, not once, but hundreds of times. Everyone and his brother are your superiors. All the regular army officers, and they are the reds, whites and the blues, are detailed to help you out.

Out for Drill

Well, we finally went out over the drill field. Here our sergeant really found out how dumb we were. We drilled and drilled and drilled. They must have struck some pretty hard heads because there was a lot of drilling, and like all drillers, our's made a loud and acute noise. We got a rest and our sergeant told us confidentially that he would give us —— whenever we made a mistake. By the way, we receive lectures while we are resting. In the first one the captain of our company explained the matter of saluting to us.

In the afternoon we were given a health talk by the post surgeon. It was very beneficial to all of us. Did I tell you before that over our cots there is mosquito netting? Well, in this talk we were told that we had to use it and exactly why. We were told what streams we could go swimming in and under no circumstances were we to bathe in the Potomac. All the nearby streams have been tested and the one in which we can go has been treated.

The men that cook and handle our food are especially well taken care of. All the meat we eat has been tested by the government inspectors, so you see we are all in fine shape on that score. We have just as much to eat as we possibly can.

Drum Is Missing

After the health lecture yesterday the candidates for the band, orchestra and glee club were called out. The band and orchestra people were many, but candidates for the glee club were few. This reminds me to comment on the fellow in the next tent. He was given a drum for the band and practiced incessantly on it. He laid it aside and left his tent for about five minutes and it took almost an hour for him to find it. As a rule I'm against stealing government property, but there are exceptions to all rules, and we feel that was one of them, decidedly.

We received our rifles yesterday afternoon, and oh my, they were oily. We rubbed and rubbed and still they weren't clean. Some of us took them apart and had to call a regular to put them together again. They are in fair shape, but we must work hours yet before they will pass inspection. This we are taught and feel it behooves us to believe it and rub accordingly. By the way, we are told how to wrap our knapsacks and how to make our beds and how to smooth our pillow cases and how to fold our raincoats and a number of other things too numerous to mention.

This morning we had our first inspection. Everything was wrong. Some of us wondered if a rookie ever did anything right. Very few have. We were also given some drill in squad movements. There is a chance for just eight times as many mistakes for a squad to make as there is for one man. As for our platoon movements, oh boy. Will we ever learn?

Perhaps from reading this you would gather that there was nothing but work all the time. Anything we do we have fun at it. Our overseers are very lenient with us. There is always something of interest happening and everyone seems to be enjoying himself. There have been five requests concerning the time the "New Castle News" will begin arriving, so you should send a lot.

Oh, yes, we have received a lecture on paying our respects to the flag. We also had a talk on citizenship.

Saturday afternoon the boys who wanted to signed up to go to Washington, D. C. They can come back to camp by 6:30 boat or the one that leaves Washington at midnight.

The boys are now C. M. T. C. students officially.

Dog Grid Team Hurls Challenge

(International News Service)

SAN LEANDRO, Cal., July 11.—A shepherd dog football team will play any other dog eleven for the world's canine championship, H. M. Verring, trainer and coach of the San Leandro squad, made it known today.

Although Verring's dogs are of Germanis pedigree, they have quickly picked up the great American college sport. End run, center rushes and smashes off tackle are now second-nature to the dogs, Verring boasted.

The only difficulty met with in training the dogs to play football, according to their coach, is their reluctance to wear helmets and shoulder-pads.

Verring is credited with being the first dog-fancier to bring German police dogs to the United States.

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Local Youth Building Plane; Is Almost Ready To Make First Flight

Work on the airplane being constructed by Lynn W. Gilkey of this city is proceeding nicely.

Mr. Gilkey states that the plane should be completed in a short time, although the work is being hampered somewhat at the present because of the delay of certain accessories which were supposed to have been shipped sooner.

At the present time Mr. Gilkey and his assistants are working on the wings of the plane. The canvas covering on the wings is being put on now. After this is completed three coats of airplane wing dope will be put on. This dope makes the wings hard like a drum.

The body skeleton is yet to be enclosed, but Mr. Gilkey states that this will take but a short time. The motor is all set and everything ready to fly except the covering on the body and the wings. The body of the plane is 16 feet long while the length of the wings is 20 feet.

Mr. Gilkey is contemplating a trip to Indianapolis in August. He says that he hopes the plane will be ready to fly by this time. Everyone is interested in this plane as it is the first one to be built in this city. According to Gilkey, another man in Ellwood City is constucting one, but this is the only other plane that is being built in the county that he has knowledge of.

Sapiro Admits Libel Suit Will Likely Be Ended

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 11.—Aaron Sapiro, just back from an extended business trip into Canada, practically admitted today that his $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford will be withdrawn.

Mr. Sapiro was asked this question: "What effect will Mr. Ford's public apology for the anti-Semitic policy of the Dearborn Independent have upon the retrial of your suit?"

Mr. Sapiro replied:

"I certainly have no desire to cause Mr. Ford any embarrassment whatsoever and I mean that to apply from 'all standpoints'.

"I have faith in Mr. Ford's sense of justice, and I believe, now that he has been informed of the scope, purpose and accomplishments of cooperative marketing, he will endorse it because he will know it is sound in principle.

"It took a tremendous amount of courage for Mr. Ford to make his retraction. It shows that fundamentally he wants to do what is right. I think his statement removes much of the sting of the Independent's policy in the past six years."

FOOTBALL CAMP BEING PLANNED

Grove City College Turns Attention To Coming Fall; News Of Town

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Pa., July 11.—Grove City College football training camp will open this fall on Wednesday, September 7, according to a recent announcement of Robert E. Thorn, Director of Athletics of the College. The camp will be opened earlier this year than in previous years because Coach Berry, elected to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Charlie Bowser, wants to become acquainted with the men, both old and new. This year's camp will be held on the College Field as of last year, and the men will be given rooms in Memorial Hall Dormitory.

Besides a good nucleus of old men from the last two years' championship elevens, a number of new men are expected this fall, so that Coach Berry and Bob Thorn feel confident of springing a few surprises in the Tri-State district. It is rumored that Berry will be assisted in coaching the team by "Bill" Cribbs and "Ted" Rosenberg, two backfield stars of the college for the last few years who will be ineligible to play this fall although still in school.

Lewis E. McKay who has been touring Europe for the last month, writes of a very unusual incident which he experienced in Italy. He will have charge of a portion of the training work of the 55 th and 56th Brigades of Infantry, and the 104th Cavalry which will be in camp for the next few weeks.

The two local organizations belong to the 56th Infantry Brigade and do not leave for camp until the 22nd of July.

Grove City music lovers will take an active part in Music Week, which is being observed at Conneaut Lake Park, July 9-16. A group of local people left today for the lake where they will take a cottage during the Music Week. The party included Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. C. Wray Campbell, Dr. and Mrs. G. C. Dale, Mrs George DeFrance, Miss Mary DeFrance, Mrs Finley Mason, and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Glenn, of Oakmont, Pa.

Sunday, July 10, the Grove City Community Chorus, which includes nearly fifty local singers, took part in the presentation of the "Messiah," at 4 p. m. The local chorus is under the direction of Dr. Herman Poehlman. On Saturday, July 16, the local chorus will assist in presenting "Elijah" in the big Temple of Music at the lake resort.

Qualifying rounds for the President's Cup at Grove City Country Club closed Saturday with many local golfers making the rounds. The tournament is limited to full membership only and starts next week. Scouts Contest Flying Of Kites

Figuly And McConnell Are Amateur Lindberghs At Camp Phillips

OTHER NEWS NOTES OF SCOUT CAMP

Arnold Figuly and William McConnell hold the honors of being the amateur Lindberghs of the John M. Phillips Boy Scout camp. Their esteemed title comes from aerial feats extraordinary, which they performed Saturday afternoon in the initial kite-flying contest of the camp.

Kite-flying is the newest feature of the Boy Scout camping program at Camp Phillips and the Scouts are flying those kites high, wide and handsome in order to be in the finals of a kite-flying contest which started Saturday and will continue until Friday afternoon, when Scouts will use 15-foot kites in order to determine the aerial champions of the camp. Bill Wheeler and George Winter came in with honors for high flying, while Dave Ritchie and Kenneth Balmer took second honors for distance flying.

Extensive Program for Week

The second week of a camping period is always the busiest of times in Camp Phillips. Tonight a three-hour moving picture program will be presented at the camp.

Tuesday evening is surprise evening at the camp. Something unusual is awaiting the Scouts.

Wednesday night will usher in a new era of the camp in the form of a great Indian and Scout pageant that will be held on the camp's natural hillside stage. The staging facilities of this outdoor pageant are such that several thousand people can view it.

Thursday afternoon and evening the Kiwanis Club will hold their annual picnic and dedicate the hut which they have donated to the camp.

Indians Win Table Decorating Contest

Sunday is always a day of extra dining hall activities at Camp Phillips. At the noon meal each table endeavors to present a better and more originally decorated table than any of the others. The Indian village came in for the extra helping of ice cream, which is the prize for the best table. Their decorations consisted of a cleverly constructed replica of the Indian village itself. Here are the table decorating Indians: John Hancher, Ed. Jenkins, Harold Aggas, Bill Wheeler, Bill McKim, Melvin Moorehouse, Alex Lawn, Herbert Boyd and Albert Howels.

These Indians seem capable of carrying away all the camping honors, for they also won a treasure hunt Saturday evening.

Conducts Sunday Services

Sunday services at Camp Phillips were conducted by the Rev. James Charbonnier of the Italian M. E. church. These services were very impressive on account of the woodland and rugged setting, which seemed to bring the Scouts assembled closer to their maker. Rev. Charbonnier spoke on the theme of the Scout and his religion, and his duties toward God as his supreme Scoutmaster. These services were held at the campfire site in the early morning so that Rev. Charbonnier would have time to reach his own congregation for morning services.

On account of the Sunday evening storm the vesper services were held in the Scout auditorium.

Win Honors for Week

Herbert Boyd presented the highest score of honor points for the first week of the second period of camp, when he scored 570 points.

Bob Jemson came a close second with 520 honor points to his credit, while Ralph Uhlrich, Ellwood, took third honors, with 495 points.

Chairman of Girl Scouts Visits Camp

Mrs. W. E. Renner, chairman of the Ellwood City Girl Scout camping committee, made an inspection tour of the camp Sunday, in company with her husband, W. E. Renner. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kern, Mrs. Paul Renner and Miss Virginia Renner. The Girl Scouts of Lawrence county are due for a period at the camp during the latter part of August.

First Ward Has Political Battle

What happens in the First Ward may not engage the attention of the voters throughout the county, but to those inside the ward there is a political battle being waged now which is most interesting.

A constable is to be elected there this year, and several candidates have offered to replace the incumbent, James H. Ellison. Constable Ellison is in the fight for re-election and is being opposed by Thomas McMahon and Andrew Fair. A fourth entrant is possible, J. P. Leslie Brindle having expressed himself as a possibility.

Sheriff Leaves For Convention

Sheriff H. M. Reynolds left the city Sunday afternoon for Erie, Pa., where he will attend the convention of Pennsylvania sheriffs. Sheriff Reynolds is one of the speakers and will address the convention on "The Sheriff As A Human Being."

This brought a challenge from Magistrate Macrery for the mind reader to read his own sentence in his mind. The mind reader promptly did so. "Five dollars or two days in jail," he said.

"You're right," said the judge, imposing the sentence, while the clerks and court officers gasped.

Six Elephants Stampede Through Illinois Streets; All Captured

CHICAGO, July 11.—A circus elephant and its trainer were killed, half a dozen persons injured and six elephants of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus were thrown into a wild stampede Sunday when a heavily loaded Chicago, Aurora and Elgin passenger train crashed into the herd of pachyderms as they we being taken from the circus grounds at Aurora, Ill.

One if the elephants was knocked to the ground, crushing its rider Andra Stickwell, Springfield, Ill., under it as the train plowed into the jungle beasts with its load of homeward bound circusgoers.

Three of the elephants, red lanterns waving from their tails threw their riders to the ground and stampeded through the streets of Aurora with scores of circus employes in wild pursuit while automobiles and other street traffic hurried for cover.

They wer recaptured after a two-hour chase.

The train also struck and wrecked a heavy circus wagon and the front end of the first car of the electric train was smashed in.

Cheerful Gardner, superintendent of elephants for the circus was thrown to the ground and suffered a concussion of the brain when the train struck the elephants. His wife riding one of them was thrown from her perch by the terror-stricken pachyderm.

Passengers of the train were thrown into a panic and rushed for the doors as the windows were shattered and the front of the train collapsed. The trumpeting of the terrified and stampeding beasts outside added to the din.

COMPLETE AUTO TRIP TO COAST

New Castle Party Write Of Cross Continent Trip In Auto

Mrs. Dora Mars of Shaw street, has just received a letter from her daughter, Mrs. W. M. Cameron, who with her husband and sons Clyde and Charles, father-in-law Charles Cameron, Sr., and Harry Cameron, left by automobile for Martinez, Calif., on June 20.

Acording to the letter the party arrived at their destination in Martinez July 3. All were well end enjoyed the wonderful trip to the utmost. They spent four days enroute in Denver and Harry Cameron left them at that place to go into the wheat country of the Dakotas.

The speedometer showed that the actual mileage of their machine was 2,853 miles and included all the distance between New Castle and Martinez with the exception of the distance traveled by ferry to Martinez across the bay from Oakland, Calif.

The letter states that hey averaged 21 ½ miles to each gallon of gasoline and used 106 gallons between the two cities. The gasoline purchased cost $35.45 and the entire cost of the trip was $68. They had their oil changed and the car greased enroute.

The members of the party were all feeling fine at the end of the journey. They travelled through the Sacramento Valley enroute to Martinez and report that it is one of the most wonderful fruit districts they ever saw. The cherries and peaches now ripe at that place.

BEES LEAVE STRAIGHT AND NARROW.

MIDDLEPORT, O., July 11.—William Harper, a farmer living near Middleport, has lodged a complaint with prohibition authorities because the bees in his apiary have gotten into the habit of returning every night to their hives, staggering drunk. Harper wants something done about it, complaining that his once fine apiary is nearly ruined. He has a hunch that the bees are getting their "jags" from the moonshine plants back in the hills where fermenting mash is thrown on the ground.

Tells Of Interesting Scenes On 1100 Mile Auto Tour

Leesburg, Pa.,
July 9, 1927.

New Castle News:
Dear Editor:

I noticed a request in your News asking people to white you of their vacation trips.

Well, my husband and I started on June 30th at 5 a. m., from here, heading for Binghamton, N. Y., in a 1927 coach. We went to Franklin, there we struck Route 5 or Lakes-to-Sea Highway, then to Dubois there we turned north on Route 6 to Kane, where we came on to Route 7, or Roosevelt Highway, we then turned east on this route thru the mountains. It is a beautiful drive all white stone. At Coudersport or near there we went to visit the Ice mine in the mountains, called nature's wonder. They have a kind of a summer house built there around the mine, it is just a large hole in the mountain or freak of nature, large ice candles some a foot thick or ice froze, looked like a ladder. This is all natural they told us, the warmer the climate the more it was frozen. There were probably 100 persons waiting there to be taken in while we were there. We went on then to Towanda on this trail where we turned north and went to Waverly, N. Y. We found gasoline was only 13 cents a gallon, when we crossed into New York; from there we drove on to Binghamton, arriving there about 6:30 p. m., same day a distance of 400 miles. Binghamton is a beautiful city, population of about 76,000. It is called the Parlor City of New York because it is so nice and clean. We visited Johnson City and Endicott which are all joined to Binghamton, or 124,000 population of the three cities; at Endicott is where the large shoe factories are located.

We also drove from there down the Lackawanna Trail to Scranton, a distance of 67 miles; this is another beautiful drive on a white stone road. We visited the Nicholson Bridge on this trail called the "Eighth Wonder of the World." It is the most beautifully constructed concrete bridge in the world built at a cost of over 12 million dallars.

Our next drive was to Watkins Glen, N. Y., a distance of 85 miles from Binghamton. It is situated 25 miles north of Elmira, N. Y. This rivaled anything we had yet seen. This great natural wonder is located near the head of Seneca Lake, known far and wide as the gem of all the finger lakes of New York State, in the village of Watkins, named for its founder, Dr. Samuel Watkins, a native of England. The state of New York acquired the Watkins Glen Reservation in 1906 at a cost of $46,512.-50 to be reserved thereafter as a State Park; in 1788 is was inhabited by the Iroquois Indians. The Glen is a deep winding canyon, worn thru the rocks by a stream of water. It is now renowned the world over for its wonderful scenery it has a distinctive individuality as "The Falls of Niagara, the Mammoth Cave, the Natural Bridge of Virginia or the Yosemite Valley." The Cliffs vary in height from 100 to 300 feet. We started in a tunnel at the entrance from there we just kept climbing up steps and winding around the cliffs thru the canyon, viewing the works of our Great Creator, until we had went almost 2 miles. Seneca lake is just at the head of the Canyon about 40 miles long and a depth of 200 feet. We were told that it maintained a temperature of 7 degrees above zero the year around. It is a beautiful blue color and often compard by travelers to the Mediterranean Sea.

I have been thru the Rockies and the Cascade Mountains, but one doesn't need to go that far to see some beautiful scenery not made by hands.

We arrived home July 5, safe, but tired covering a distance of 1100 miles.

If any one else saw anything nicer we would like to hear it.

Yours Truly,
MRS. JACK DAVIS.

REPORTS DEVICE TO STOP PLANE IN FEW YARDS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The invention of an airplane brake by which planes can be brought to a stop within twice their length after reaching the ground, was announced here today by C. Francis Jenkins a Washington inventor. The invention consists of a propeller-reversing device which is automatically inoperable while the plane is in the air and which is released by the wheels striking the ground.

Jenkins declared his device would permit the landing of planes on the roofs of large buildings, the decks of battleships or in any other limited area. He has obtained a patent on the device.

Refuse To Admit Mercer Prisoner To Penitentiary

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—Maggie Scott, negro, of Farrell, holds the unique distinction of having been refused admission for six to 12 years to Western Penitentiary after conviction upon a second degree murder charge. Maggie, in custody of Sheriff W. A. Bone of Mercer, tried to crash the gate at the Woods Run institution Saturday and was notified by Warden Stanley P. Ashe that there was no room for her.

Maggie was returned to Mercer pending consideration of her case by the courts.

Warden Ashe said that women had been refused at the penitentiary for several years because there are no accommodations for them. Female prisoners, he said, are usually confined to a local workhouse or Muncy, a woman's institution.

Vare Is Seen As Spring Candidate

Politicians Believe He Will Enter Primary If Denied Senate Seat

SENATOR REED ALSO CANDIDATE

By GEORGE H. MANNING
Washington Correspondent Of The News

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 11.—Closer harmony within Pennsylvania Republican ranks is forseen in the event the senate refuses to seat senator-elect William S. Vare when the seventieth congress convenes.

It is freely predicted here that if Mr. Vare is denied admission to the senate, he will again be a candidate in the April primary at which time Senator David A. Reed must also go before the people for a new commission. It is natural to suppose, therefore, in the light of past events, that the senatorial primary in Pennsylvania will find Mr. Vare and Mr. Reed riding along together.

Senator Reed definitely aligned himself with Mr. Vare in a recent speech before the Republican club of Schuylkill county in which he indicated that he would fight to the end in the coming session to force the seating of Vare notwithstanding charges brought against the Philadelphian by the Reed slush fund committee after its investigation of the Pennsylvania primary last year.

In that same speech, Senator Reed advanced the idea that refusal to seat would not create a "vacancy" which could be filled by appointment by Governor Fisher.

"To refuse to permit Mr. Vare to be sworn would not create a vacancy," said Senator Reed, "but would simply leave him as senator-elect, who had not qualified. There would be no vacancy to which Governor Fisher could appoint, or which could be filled by election. Pennsylvania, with ten millions of people, would have but one vote in the senate, at least until a long-drawn-out contest had been finally determined, while 16 western states, whose aggregate population is less than ten millions would have 32 votes."

The senate, undoubtedly, will give little weight to Senator Reed's suggestion that a "vacancy" does not exist. That body will probably say that a vacancy does exist which may be filled in a regular way and it is altogether likely that April will find Mr. Vare once more before the Pennsylvania electors.

With the new senate composed of 48 Republicans, 47 Democrats, one Farmer-Laborite, which considered with the fact that several western Republicans will vote with the Democrats against Vare, it is reasonable to believe that the Pennsylvanian will be denied admission to the upper house. Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, chairman of the committee which investigated the Pennsylvania and Illinois primaries, intends to press his opposition to seating Vare as soon as congress convenes.

Neither Reed nor Vare are assured of renomination without opposition. There are several powerful opponents which must be considered. Among those who have been mentioned as likely candidates for the Republican nomination are former Governor Pinchot, Representative Clyde Kelly of the thirty-third congressional district and Representative John A. Morin of the thirty-fourth district. The latter, however, probably would not be a candidate if Vare chooses to run. Morin served as a lieutenant for the Vare organization in the western part of the state last spring.

Should Reed and Vare seek the Republican nomination next spring the Mellons and Vare organization must again unite for a common cause. This undoubtedly would have the effect of cementing the political ties which were shattered last spring but patched up just before the November elections. It would bring the two powerful factions into closer harmony with the question of nominal leadership in the state far in the background.

CONGRESSMAN PERLMAN GOT FORD STATEMENT

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 11.—Congressman Nathan D. Perlman of New York was responsible for the conferences between Louis Marshall and representatives of Henry Ford which led to the apology of the automobile billionaire for his attacks upon Jews, it was revealed at the office of the congressman here.

Congressman Perlman who is honorary president of the American Jewish congress, conferred in May of this year with Earl J. Davis of Detroit, former assistant U. S. attorney general representing Ford and Joseph Palma of New York, connected with U. S. department of justice for many years another friend of Ford.

Several other conferences were held and then Congressman Perlman brought in Louis Marshall president of the American Jewish committee, the Ford letter recording the apology to Jews for attacks against them in the "Dearborn Independent" was the result.

EARL CARROLL IS NOW RECOVERED

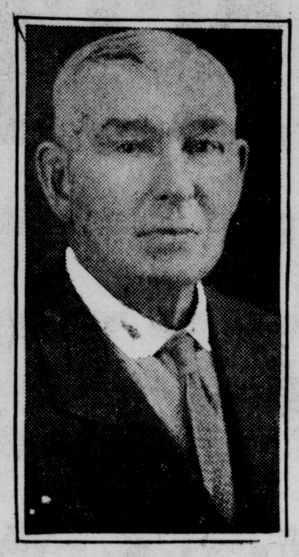
(International News Service)

ATLANTA, July 11.—Earl Carroll, fully recovered from the nervous collapse which delayed his entrance into Atlanta penitentiary to serve a term of a year and a day on perjury charges, is now employed in the office of the prison, doing "clerical work."

"His mind is perfectly clear" Warden John Snook revealed. "In a week or so we'll have him in fine shape and he'll be playing ball with the prison team.

S. W. Crawford Is Candidate For Commissioner

North Beaver Township Man Enters Race For Republican Nomination



S. W. CRAWFORD

To the Republican Voters of Lawrence County:

I herewith announce myself a candidate for the office of County Commissioner to be voted for at the Republican primaries held September 20th, next.

Lawrence county is a vast business organization. The County Commissioners are its business agents. They levy taxes, contract obligations, and pay bills with the people's money. The money should be economically expended, for bridges and roads, where needed, and for other lawful purposes. I fully realize the importance of the office, and pledge myself, if nominated and elected, to conscientiously perform the duties of this office in a manner efficient, practicable and economical.

My place of residence is and has been for a number of years on my farm in North Beaver township.

Respectfully,
SAMUEL W. CRAWFORD.

SIGNBOARDS FOR AVIATORS MOST PRESSING NEED

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Aerial signboards on the roofs of high buildings were advocated as a "most practical" tribute to Charles Lindbergh, in a statement by Assistant Secretary of Commerce MacCracken, civilian aviation leader.

The suggestion, originally made by W. C. M. Robertson, Jr., Birmingham, Ala., civilian aviator, was endorsed by MacCracken, who pointed out that some private concerns already have made a start "on this most happy work".

Robertson said on a recent trip from St. Louis to Birmingham he had to fly low to read signs on railroad stations, which would give him his bearings.

MRS. BASSETT ALWAYS TIRED

Now in Good Health by Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lansing, Mich.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound whenever I needed it. When I first used it I was so bad I could hardly walk across the room without crying. I was tired all the time. I think my trouble was coming on me for six months before I realized it. I read of your wonderful medicine in the paper, and my husband bought me a bottle, and after the first few doses I felt better, so kept on taking it until I was well and strong. I take it at times when I feel tired and it helps me. I will always have a good word for your medicine and tell anyone what good it has done me. I recommended it to my neighbor for her girl, who is sixteen years old, and it was just what she needed. She is feeling fine now, and goes to school every day." —Mrs. E. F. Bassett, 216 South Hayford Avenue, Lansing, Michigan.

Do not continue to feel all rundown and half sick when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is sold by druggists everywhere.

Mrs. Robert Nebitt, who has been confined in the Shenango Valley hospital for some time following a very serious auto accident, is slowly recovering. This will be good news to her many friends who anxiously await her recovery.

S. R. Huey has recovered from a recent accident when he had the misfortune to fall from a high ladder while trimming fruit trees.

Mr. and Mrs. John Madigan expect to occupy their new home in the near future.

Accused Gangsters In Open Warfare

Threats Are Made By Two Of Bandits Now On Trial

By ALBERT F. BAENZIGER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BENTON, Ill., July 11.—Open warfare between Charles Birger and Art Newman who, together with Ray "Izzy" Hyland, are on trial here for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City, broke out afresh today as the notorious gangsters of Little Egypt were being taken from the Franklin county jail to the courthouse where a jury is in the process of selection for their trial.

Ever since Newman outwitted the battery of defense attorneys last Friday by forcing his own lawyer to withdraw action tending toward a separate trial, Birger has realized that all hope of closing the breech between himself and his former comrade in crime is gone. He has lost no opportunity to threaten and curse Newman.

Birger's cell is on the second floor of the county jail. Newman is imprisoned on the first with Hyland. As the former gang leader passed Newman's cell on the way out, he stepped close to the open wicket and snarled:

"You —— double-crossing snitcher. You'll get yours and it won't be long in coming if you don't shut your —— trap."

Newman, after replying in kind, hailed Millard Loven, the jailer, and said:

"Loven, ask the sheriff to open this cell and put that dirty rat in here with me for just five minutes and I promise you that when I get through with him Franklin county won't have to spend any money for his trial."

NOW SHE KNOWS

"What is that big thing over there?" asked a young lady visitor at the locomotive plant. "That's a locomotive boiler," he replied. She puckered her brows. "And what do they boil locomotives for?" "To make the locomotive tender," and the young man from the office never smiled.

Even the cynic believes in love, but he lavishes all of it on himself.

60 YEARS AGO---
Famous Poem Was Written
NOW---
Author Hears It Over Radio

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 11.—

"England's sun was slowly setting
O'er the hills so far away,
Filling all the land with beauty at
The close of one sad day;
And the last rays kissed the forehead
Of a man and maiden fair.
He with step so slow and weakened,
She with sunny, floating hair;
He with sad bowed head, and thoughtful,
She with lips so cold and white,
Struggling to keep back the murmur,
'Curfew must not ring tonight'."

Sixty years ago those lines were written, and recently Mrs. Rose Hartwick Thorpe, author of "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight," heard her lines lauded over the radio.

For her it was a beautiful memory of the inspiration behind the poem which millions have read and heard.

"Forgets" Money End.

She will discuss no details of the "money end" of the poem, other than to inform her auditors that it was copyrighted by a publishing company without her permission. She received no material gain from it.

But on the anniversary of this world-famous poem, and with the approach July 18 of her 77th birthday, she tells of her love for poetry, how she dislikes the changes from mid-Victorian to free verse. The realism of today appeals to her as unseemly.

"Love and Loyalty," by an unknown author, inspired the famous curfew poem. That story came into Mrs. Thorpe's hands when she was 16, she says, and so excited her imagination that she did not rest until "Curfew" was complete.

Fame Spreads Rapidly.

Three months after the poem was published, its fame had spread over the United States and Canada. Soon it reached England, where it became a favorite of Queen Victoria, who had historians investigate the foundation of the story.

It was found that the main events occurred at Chertsey, some 20 miles from London. The church, with its tower and bells, stands today.

For many years after the poem appeared, Mrs. Thorpe did not touch her poetic pen. Then loss of wealth sent her husband and her "on the road", giving author's recitals and writing.

Mrs. Rose Hartwick Thorpe.

With her daughter and grandchildren living with her, Mrs. Thorpe finds much to interest her at home. There is a fine ranch at Julian, in the mountians, where she passes much of her spare time. Occasionally she writes, but only on special order.

Today she rests from the labors of life, famous for the work of a few hours and an inspiration; but in England:

"O'er the distant hills came Cromwell; Bessie saw him, and her brow,
Lately white with sickening terror, glows with sudden beauty now;
At his feet she told her story, showed her hands all bruised and torn;
And her sweet young face so haggard, with a look so sad and worn,
Touched his heart with sudden pity, lit his eyes with misty light:
'Go, your lover lives!' cried Cromwell: 'Curfew shall not ring tonight'."

Madden's Ten Term Interview Thought Mistake By Party

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Representative Martin B. Madden of Chicago may well thank his lucky stars that he was just sailing for Europe when he gave out that "Ten Terms for Coolidge" interview.

MARTIN B. MADDEN

What would have happened to him if the Coolidge-ites could have caught him before he made his getaway, isn't pleasant to think about.

For quite awhile after reading the Madden offering, officials at Republican national headquarters were too flabbergasted to speak. Then they began trying to make up for lost time, working at it in eight-hour shifts ever since.

To quote 'em wouldn't do, though. Such talk's excluded from the mails.

The only thing the Democratic committeemen are worrying about is how many million copies of the Madden spiel to issue as a campaign document of their own, for next year.

* * *

No observing person can have failed to notice how nervously good Coolidge-ites shy away from the notion that either Cal or his followers favor even three presidential terms—let alone ten—for anybody.

Those who have intimated that Cal's renomination would be a bid for a third crack at his present job are none of his friends.

The Democrats have done their best to give that impression, of course, but it's been discounted from them, as deliberate dirty work.

A few Republicans, with white house ambitions of their own, have suggested the same thing, but the motive was so evidently selfish that their hints have fallen on pretty stony ground.

* * *

The "third term bogey" simply failed to produce a scare.

Clearly, nobody believed that C. Coolidge meant to hang onto the presidency indefinitely.

At all events, nobody intended to believe it on the strength of his rivals' say-so.

If he said so himself, or if some of his real supporters admitted it, that might be different—but naturally nobody dreamed of such a ridiculous thing.

At this juncture along came Congressman Madden with the remark that Cal could have ten terms if he wanted 'em.

* * *

Picture to yourself Martin B. Madden!

If ever there was a Republican wheel horse, he's it.

He's served eleven terms in congress and is just starting on his twelfth—22 years, going on 24.

He's chairman of the super-powerful appropriations committee, a leader from the word "go"—has been referred to as "the most useful man in the house of representatives" a million times if he has once.

He's "administration spokesman" three-quarters of the time.

A conservative, cautious, cagey old guy!—never before known to go off at half cock!

He's the gent who proposes ten presidential terms for Cal.

* * *

Needless to say, Martin didn't mean "ten terms."

He merely meant to say "pooh' pooh" to the idea that another term for Cal would be three.

But what a man means to say signifies nix in politics. What he says is what counts—and what Martin actually said was "ten terms."

That it will queer Mr. Coolidge would be to assume entirely too much. It isn't likely to queer him in the convention and it may not queer him at the polls, but it won't do him any good—that's a cinch. On the contrary, it will embarrass him a whole lot.

The longer Congressman Madden stays in Europe, the better it will be for Martin B. It won't be too late for him to be spanked for quite awhile.

And such a break for so wise an old boy! If he's seasick all the way over and all the way back it will serve him right.

Court Opinions Are Handed Down

Number Of Cases Are Decided By Court At Short Session Today

Several opinions were handed down today by Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand, disposing of cases that have been before the court for some time.

In the case of Edward E. Roberts vs. William G. Tillia, the court overruled the objection of the defense and directed that an answer be filed within 30 days. The case is one in which an action to reform a deed is brought.

The case of Frank W. Dute and wife against the city of New Castle disposed of also. This goes back to June 10, 1921, when Earl M. Dute, a son of Frank W. Dute, was drowned at the city bathing beach on Neshannock avenue. Mr. Dute brought suit against the city and the case to trial twice, first in September, 1922, and second in February, 1927. In the second trial the court ordered a compulsory non-suit and to this the plaintiff objected. The present action was to strike off the compulsory non-suit, and was refused.

In the case of J. D. Jones against Mrs. Hilda Lundgren, an action to strike off a mechanic's lien, the court refused to grant an order to show cause why it should not be stricken off.

In the opinion in the case of Attorney Edwin K. Logan against Joe Boren and Barbara Boren, the court made a definite ruling on the practice of contingent fees. The case was one in which Mr. Logan defended the two Borens in a liquor suit under an agreement that he was to receive $100 and $200 additional if they were paroled. The defendants were paroled but refused to pay the additional $200. Mr. Logan then sued for the amount and in his opinion the court said: "The proper administration of justice requires that such a contract should be struck down as against public policy and unequivocally held to be illegal and void."

In the case of John Palmerich for his wife, Mary Palmerich, against William Kimberly, the petition for judgment N. O. V. is refused. The case was one in which the plaintiffs sued for damages arising out of an automobile accident. The jury awarded damages in the amount of $100 for Mary Palmerich and $362.25 for John Palmerich. The defendant then asked that the jury's verdict be set aside and judgment for the defendant granted. This is refused.

Legion Auxiliary Closing Most Successful Year; Plans For Convention

Mrs. Earl Sowers, Beckford street, will attend the annual convention of the American Legion auxiliary at York, Pa., in August, as a delegate from the local unit.

With this convention the year's work will close.

Report of the national organization shows many interesting features.

It has been a very successful year, under the capable leadership of Mrs. Joseph Thompson, department president; Mrs. Charles Dressler, executive secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Carl O. Jeske, first vice president; Mrs. Frank Emery, second vice president, and Mrs. Evelyn Walsh, third vice president.

Born in the aftermath of a terrible war, the American Legion is an outgrowth of a vision of service, carried out in various efficient ways.

The American Legion auxiliary has followed in the footsteps of the legion and is doing its work along the same lines, viz., rehabilitation, child welfare and Americanism. The work of the 19,000 members has been efficiently led by the chairman of these three active committees.

The rehabilitation work, under Mrs. James H. Kennedy, department chairman, has been a successful one. The fact that never before in the world's history has any nation attempted to do as much as America is doing for her disabled ex-service men, should make us proud of the part of the legion and our auxiliary has had in the work.

When we realize there are 26,000 veterans in the hospitals today, we realize that the war is not over! There is work to be done in brightening the weary months spent in the hospitals, and in aiding the families who are deprived of their loved ones. It may be a widowed mother or a young wife and children who need our love, sympathy and financial assistance.

Last August, Mrs. Kennedy visited the hospital at Oteen, N. C., where 148 Pennsylvania boys are among the hundreds of tubercular ex-service men. As a gift from Pennsylvania department she gave $1 to each man who was not receiving compensation. Their smiles and words of appreciation will never be forgotten. Assistance is given in securing compensation when possible.

The veterans in the hospitals were made happier at Christmas by receiving from our units a stocking or a box filled with candy, nuts, ties, handkerchiefs, etc., or even an interesting toy or game to help pass the weary hours. Every Pennsylvania ex-service man or woman hospitalized in the United States received a check for $1 from the Pennsylvania state department, American Legion auxiliary.

When the Mississippi flood began, a call came from our national rehabilitation chairman to all departments not in the flooded area for clothing and financial aid in buying food. The response was so prompt that soon word came that no more clothing was needed. Bedding of all kinds and towers are still needed. As the flood recedes, the flood sufferers will leave the camps to return and begin the reconstruction of their homes and communities. Surely our ex-service men and their dependents will need all the help and encouragement the auxiliary can give them during this trying period.

The rehabilitation work is still further aided by the poppy program. Mrs. Jackson Painter, Pennsylvania's poppy chairman, has had unusual poppy success. Over half a million poppies were made by our Pennsylvania disabled alone. The sale was the largest poppy sale we have ever had.

The disabled are paid for the poppies they make. The thousands of dollars paid them helped them pay bills, buy clothing and still better occupy their minds. With the first pay he received, one young father bought shoes for his baby. He had given so much for others, are you glad you bought a poppy and gave generously for it? One fine young fellow with a colorless face has had 18 blood transfusions for pernicious anemia. His case is not compensible and the money he receives for making poppies is all he has. We could give numberless cases like the above, but space will not permit. When next you are asked to buy a poppy, think of these boys and give until it hurts.

The veterans at Hospital No. 42, Perry Point, Maryland, make for sale all kinds of reed articles, leather bags and purses, rugs and some articles in wood. Send there for some of these articles and help and encourage our unfortunate boys.

From the disabled our thoughts naturally turn to the work for their children. Mrs. Vedder, for several years has ably acted as chairman for Child Welfare. Her appeals have been the inspiration that has caused Christmas boxes to be sent to Scotland school where children of ex-service men are cared for. The children of the disabled ex-service man whether at home or at the hospital are also remembered. Christmas was made brighter for over 500 children because of her appeal in their behalf.

You will be pleased to know that each of the 225 children at South Mountain received a good sized Easter egg in the name of the American Legion Auxiliary. All the eggs were alike and decorated. The children were so delighted that they sang a song of thanks. The library at Scotland school has been filled with books for the children and games sent.

The Child Welfare committee sent 400 new garments to the "Disaster Relief Headquarters American Red Cross" for distribution among those suffering as the result of the Mississippi floods.

Mrs. Warden is the chairman of Americanism. Perhaps the most important work along that line is the work done in the schools. As women, we have the opportunity to keep closely in touch with the school life of our children. Hon. James J. Davis, secretary of labor said: "One of our highest duties to the child is to make a sound and loyal American out of him. If we fail here we have failed all along the line of endeavor. It is not enough to teach a child how to make his living. He must be taught to be a noble citizen of his country, a benefactor of the land that nurtured him and witnessed his growth from childhood to manhood—A man who is not a patriot had better never have been born."

There are influences at work seeking to mislead our young people and our women's groups along lines most un-American and destructive to our government. If we are to be fit to direct and guard our children we must be ourselves well informed.

Our teachers are aiding Americanism by means of special programs on patriotic holidays as Lincoln, Washington and Memorial Days. Encourage them and the children by attendance at these services.

The leadership in the observance of Memorial day inaugurated by the Grand Army of the Republic is falling on the shoulders of the Legion and the Auxiliary. As the ranks of the Grand Army are so rapidly thinning the task of marking and decorating the graves falls on younger shoulders. May we do our work as well in the future as they have in the past. In the acts of loving memory may we renew that spirit which stirs our feeling and stimulates us to discharge the duties we owe to civilization and to each other.

A very important work has been the awarding of a medal to girls of the eighth grades of our schools. While not every unit has taken up this phase of the work we hope it will be done in every town which has an American Legion Auxiliary. In awarding the medals teachers and pupils vote on the one who in their estimation stands highest in Character, Scholarship, Responsibility and Service. Happy is the girl who received a medal on commencement night.

GERMAN SEA HAWK RETURNS TO COAST HONORED GUEST

Count Felix von Luckner, photographed aboard the Vaterland.

By DAVID H. GLICKMAN,
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—A 17-year-old German lad, who left here nearly 30 years ago and tramped his way overland to New York City, working at odd jobs en route, has become an honored guest of San Francisco. He is one of the few who has been made an honorary citizen.

This lad today is Count Felix von Luckner, famous German sea raider of the World war and known as the "bloodless conqueror," because he took no life in his long series of raids.

Owner of the auxiliary schooner Vaterland, Count von Luckner, accompanied by his countess, is on a round-the-world "good will" cruise with a cargo of German manufactured products. The count and his party remaining here until the middle of July, set sail then for Los Angeles. Following which they sail directly to the South Sea Islands.

Explains Cruise's Object.

The object of the cruise, according to Count von Luckner, is to renew acquaintances with the Waikagos tribe in the Fiji Islands, of which he is a chief. The count was given that honor in 1918 after his escape from New Zealand, as a token of the savages' appreciation of the feat, and was presented with a chief's garment, decorated with kipi feathers. The kipi is a night bird, boasting but a single feather and many birds are used to create one toga for a chief.

As commander of the Kaiser's commerce raider, Sea Eagle, the count is credited with having taken 19 enemy merchant marine vessels without firing a shot or taking a life.

Count von Luckner sailed from Bremen last September for a world cruise of two years or more aboard a four-masted American lumber schooner he purchased through the cooperation of German school children, private donations and funds furnished by a society formed for the purpose of promulgating his message of Germany's good will toward the world.

Express Appreciation.

"We are under deep obligation to the United States for helping us to feed our children after the war," says the count. "America was the only one of our adversaries who, after the armistice, put prejudices and enmity aside and helped us. That is one of the reasons why I came back to the United States. I feel it my duty to express our gratitude to your people."

In addition to the countess and her secretary, the cruising party is made up of Dr. Schulz-Ewerth, the last German governor of Samoa; Professor A. Volkert, scenic artist of Munich.

The count comes of a Bavarian peasant family which was granted peerage in 1784 shortly after emigrating to Schleswig-Holstein. At the age of 13 he ran away from home and joined an outgoing steamer as a cabin boy. After circling the globe several times he reached San Francisco in 1898 and began his walk to New York. For a time he was a bartender in a Hoboken saloon. Later he was a pirate and a soldier in the Mexican army.

A feature of the program was the formal presentation of the building to Bishop Joseph Berry by J. I. Porter, head of the board of trustees. A fitting response of acceptance was made by the bishop at this time.

The dedicatory address was delivered by Bishop Joseph F. Berry of Philadelphia.

The musical part of the program was directed by Mrs. Esther Griffiths and consisted of a vocal number "The Lord is My Shepherd" by a ladies quartet and a solo "Jesus Only," by Mrs. Griffith.

Ths evening Bichop Berry will lecture in the auditorium on "What a Tramp Saw in Ireland,' a humorous lecture. The bishop changed the lecture from "Give Him a Lift" to the other as he had given the latter at the dedication of the cathedral in New Castle at which time many local people heard him.

Tuesday afternoon members of the Ladies Aid society will have their regular monthly meeting in the church.

Exciting Treasure Hunt Send People All Over County

ELLWOOD CITY, July 11.—The reason for the dashing pell mell of several cars all over the county Saturday night, was a treasure hunt, instigated by a group of girls, with Miss Edna Shaffer as author of the "tips" and Mrs. Glenn Hoffman hostess of the evening.

The first slips told the couples to go to a place where farmers meet, and several dashed to the local market place, only to find to their chagrin that the old "grange" was meant instead. The territory took the competing couples on a mad chase up and down the Wampum, New Castle and Beaver Falls roads. At the end of the hectic hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Dahl emerged victorious, beating Kenneth Fox by one minute. The party was then entertained at Mrs. Glen Hoffmans with a delicious lunch.

Those participating in the affair were: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Dahl, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hoffman, Miss Abigail Cresswell, Miss Esther Texter, Miss Beach of Wilkensburg; Miss Edna Shaffer, Kenneth Fox, Nick Schuler, Doctor Smith and Alvin Adams of Pittsburgh.

Gas Station Strike In Chicago Settled

Attendants And Tank Drivers Get Pay Increase In Two-Year Agreement

CHICAGO, July 11.—As Chicago's public gasoline supply dwindled rapidly and motorized vehicles deserted the streets by the thousands, the first strike of gasoline station attendants of the automobile era was settled late Saturday upon a conpromise basis.

The filling station men demanded a $10 a month increase and got $5 added to their salary of $140. Gasoline tank wagon drivers, formerly paid $175 a month, got an increase of $7.50 a month. They demanded a $15 raise and a week's vacation with pay.

The agreement called for the immediate return to work of all the employes. It will expire two years from now.

The filling stations, approximately 2,000 of them scattered over Chicago and three adjoining counties, and 700 tank wagons were abandoned at noon Friday. Union officials climaxed more than two weeks of negotiations by calling out the attendants and drivers for the Sinclair Oil Company. The other companies, Standard Oil of Indiana, Roxana, Texas, Apex and nearly a score of lesser ones, immediately countered by closing all their stations and withdrawing their tank wagons.

NEW CASTLE TAKES LEAGUE VICTORY OVER ERIE

Sailors Blanked 1-0, Pitching Is Feature

Mark Jamieson Tames Erie In O. & P. League Encounter Saturday

Visitors Get But Four Hits; Coen Hurls Fine Game For Lake City

By "BUGS" WALTHER.

The New Castle "Fliers" started their non-stop flight to first place in the Ohio and Pennsylvania league, on Saturday afternoon, at Centennial field, by nosing out the Erie Sailors 1 to 0. The game marked the opening of the second-round of the league schedule.

Big Mark Jamieson the Ellwoodian was the choice to face the Sailors. Jamieson came through with an excellent pitching record, limiting the visitors to four-hits. The kalsomining process was complete in every detail. The Sailors just couldn't solve Jamieson's tricky delivery. Erie had several men as far as third base, but that was all.

That the New Castle team is destined to be in the thick of the pennant fight in the second-half of the league program, was quite clearly demonstrated Saturday. New Castle has a hard hitting ball club, and the boys played a merry tune all afternoon, with bingles to every nook and corner of the spacious orchard. In the matter of defense the locals will have few superiors in the loop. Fast fielding cut down many of the Erie batsmen, when wobbles might have proven costly.

Coen Is Tricky

"Jewie" Coen former local boy, occupied the mound for the Lake City contingent, and Coen proved to be the tricky pitcher of old. New Castle for the first six innings, could get but two-hits, and it looked for all the world as if the game would go extra innings, with a 0-0 deadlock.

New Castle started to pound the Coen offerings in the seventh frame, and although not a runner crossed the plate, it was quite evident that the mystery had fallen from the bespectacled hurler. New Castle in the seventh inning banged out three successive singles, but a lightning double play Coen to Munch to Moske, put the damper on the proceedings.

Bryan Tallies

In the eighth inning New Castle strode to the front of the parade. Bryan led off with a crash into left field that went for a single, Jamieson singled to left field and Bryan went to third. Lawrence singled and Bryan tallied. Jamieson was thrown out at third. McCullough lined to Stout who stepped on second retiring Brehanney.

Dunn the new left-fielder pulled the feature catch of the game in the fourth inning, and received a big hand from the fans. With Munch at bat, the local fielder was playing deep in left-field, Munch shot a wickid liner over short-stop and Dunn came in fast, caught the ball, and turned a sommersault, but held on to the pellet. In the seventh Dunn had two of the put-outs, on hard chances to his pasture.

Fast Fielding

McCullough at third played his customary fine fielding game, taking care of five hard chances without a misplay. Lawrence and Brehanney also fielded well. McCoy at first-base was very much in evidence with his pepper and congenial manner.

The Erie team fielded well, and had they been able to solve Jamieson with a little more effectiveness, they might have walked home with the bacon, but as the case turned out to be, they walked home with the goose-eggs.

"Lefty" Feigert again demonstrated his worth to the team, by crashing out a triple and single, and fielding his position in a most capable manner.

The game Saturday was without doubt one of the best played to date on the local ball grounds, and the fans, large numbers of them thoroughly enjoyed the white-washing method.

Last Sunday Jamieson twirled at Erie and secured a 3 to 1 verdict, on Wednesday night he faced the Homestead Grays and came out with a 5 to 3 victory and again Saturday defeated Erie 1 to 0.

American Winners — By Fez Murray

The British open championship, which starts today on the historical course of the St. Andrews golf club at St. Andrews, Scotland, was, until recent years, considered the ne plus ultra of golf tournaments the world over. Now, however, the United States open heads the list as the "world's greatest golf competition," though probably many Britishers, especially Scotchmen, would rise and voice a loud protest if they should ever read this statement.

The classy field that teed off at Oakmont in the 1927 United States open, including as it did, American born amateurs and professionals, English and Scotch pros who have lived long in the United States, and the invading British Ryder Cup team, was probably the best group of golfers that ever entered a single tournament. This year's British open will not lack in class, by any means, but how thankful the committee in charge must have been when they heard the good news that Bobby Jones had caught the boat and would be on hand to defend his title!

Any American golf fan who looks over a list of the winners of the last few years has reason to be proud of the fact that invading mashie wielders from this country have won the title five times in the last six years.

A closer inspection of the victorious "Americans," however, shows that only two of the gentlemen in question, Walter Hagen and Bobby Jones, are home-breds, as Jock Hutchison, the winner in 1921, and Jim Barnes, the winner in 1925, both adopted the United States as their home over ten years ago.

Jock, whose spectacular hole in one enabled him to tie Roger Wethered, whom he defeated in the play-off for the title, was born at St. Andrews, while Long Jim Barnes was born in Cornwall. Walter Hagen achieved the honor of becoming the first United States home-bred to capture Britain's highest golfing honor in 1922, and his feat of finishing second the following year and of winning again in 1924 is something for Bobby Jones to shoot at. But then, young Robert gave the boys a mark to shoot at himself when he qualified for this tournament at Sunningdale last year with two record rounds of 66 and 68, and his winning score of 291 tied the record made by James Braid back in 1904.

Fez Murray Says—Too bad that when Jack Sharkey defeated Harry Wills, no one thought to remark that "Even the best smoke meets its match eventually."

Emery Hurls Great Game For Croton As Mates Slug Ball Hard

Croton slugged their way to a 5 to 1 victory over Wampum, in the start of the second-half of the Lawrence County league on Saturday afternoon. The game was played on the Croton Field.

Emery was on the knoll for the Crotonites and pitched a steady game, limiting Wampum to five-hits, and keeping them scattered. Wampum tallied their lone marker in the eighth inning.

Manager Colaluca catching his first game for the Croton team this year, had a perfect day at bat with four hits. R. Buccehelli at short-stop for Croton was one of the feature players of the game. Buccehelli handled six hard chances and cut off several tallies, at bat the short-fielder had three hits, two doubles, and a single.

Grinnen pitched a fine game for Wampum until the eight inning when he walked three men, uncorked two wild pitches and A. Colaluca's timely bingle gave Croton three runs.

Bobby Jones Is Defending Title In Scotch Tourney

In Pouring Rain, American Youth Starts Defense Of British Open Title

By F. A. WRAY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 11.—In a pouring rain, as only Scottish rain can pour, Bobby Jones started his effort today to retain his title as British open golf champion.

Partnered by R. A. Whitcomb, Jones went to the first tee in the qualifying rounds of the tournament with a huge gallery behind him. Up to the time of Jones' appearance the gallery had remained under cover, but when the champion set forth, the Scots forgot the rain and its discomforts and trailed at the heels of the American, who is a five to one favorite to win the championship.

Jones appeared unworried by the rain and was on the green at the first hole in two but was strong with his putt and missed a birdie. He sunk a two-yard putt for a par four as his initial effort.

Jones played the first three holes in 4-5-4, which was not as good as the straight fours scored by Whitcomb.

New Castle To Represent Youngstown Team In O.&P. League For Season Balance

New Castle And Youngstown Consolidate Forces In Meeting Saturday

Week-Day Games Here As New Castle, Sunday Ball In Youngstown

By "BUGS" WALTHER

Coming as a stroke of lightning out of a clear sky was the announcement today from the directors of the New Castle O. & P. League team that New Castle would represent Youngstown in the league schedule for the balance of the season. The two teams have been consolidated, it is understood.

The merger means in the long run that New Castle will take the pick of the Youngstown team, together with the local contingent. It is said that Andy Hospidor, the Youngstown pitching ace; Hunt, a shortstop, and DeMont, an outfielder, will join the New Castle team today.

Plans for the consolidation were made last Friday night at Youngstown between J. A. Reisinger of the Youngstown club, Carm Sacco and Paul DiCarbo of the New Castle club. Youngstown was forced to cancel all of their week-day games and this caused the team to break up. The team could not exist on Sunday ball alone.

With Youngstown dropping out it will mean that the schedule will have to be changed somewhat. A new schedule will be announced in a few days.

New Players Sign Up

The newly created New Castle-Youngstown club will play their first game under the consolidation here on Wednesday night. The Canton team will be the opponents. The game is scheduled for 6:15 o'clock daylight saving time.

Hospidor in returning to New Castle, comes back to an old love. Hospidor first saw action in the O. & P. league, as a member of the New Castle team last season. The youngster is a good pitcher and has been the main stay of the Ohio City boys this year. His acquisition to the New Castle team, together with Meis, Feigert and Jamieson, will mean that the locals have four of the best pitchers in the loop.

Hunt the new short-stop is a fine fielder and a heavy clouter, his coming to New Castle will strengthen the local infield. DeMont the new right-fielder will also add the necessary punch to the pasture-land.

Lineup Revised

The New Castle lineup will consist of the following for the Wednesday game here: Bryan, catch; Meis, Jamieson, Feigert or Hospidor pitch; McCoy, first; Lawrence, second; Hunt, short; McCullough, third; Dunn, left; Feiger tor Graham, center, and De Mont, right.

On next Saturday afternoon the New Castle club will tangle with the Beaver Falls Elks here. The Booster Day game, and automobile drawing has been set ahead of Saturday, July 23, when the Cleveland Tellings will play at Centennial Field.

Meis and Steen will continue to manage the newly created team it is understood. New Castle is going to make a spirited bid for the pennant in the second-half, as seen by this move in signing the new players.

Pirates Sign Coast Pitcher

John Miljus, Winning Pitcher With Seattle, To Join Pirate Forces

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—Pitcher John Miljus, who went to war with First Baseman Joe Harris, will see service with the Franklin, Pa., veteran again. The Pirates announced today that Miljus has been purchased from the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast league to bolster up the none too reliable pitching corps of the National league pennant contender.

It is understood the Pirates gave Seattle $17,500 and Pitcher Andy House for Pitcher Miljus, who has been having things his own way in the far west loop.

Jack Sharkey, who a few years ago, was receiving $30 a month for wearing one of Uncle Sam's navy uniforms, will garner a fortune if he wins the coming match with Jack Dempsey and thereby gets the chance to meet Tunney for the championship.

Sharkey Assumes Confident Role; May Get Fooled

Experts Say Dempsey Is Fast Rounding Into Condition For Big Bout

SHARKEY LEARNS HOW TO MIX IT

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'al News Service

NEW YORK, July 11. — Having peered with rapt attention at our favorite orator for several days, the writer can discover only one possible argument against Jack Sharkey's chances on the night of July 21 and it remained today for his manager, Johnny Buckley, to point it out. John, of course, was not finding fault with his man. John simply was pointing with pride, as every manager should and will and does.

He announced with a hint of triumph in his tones that Sharkey was becoming a mixer, willing to trade his for yours and all that sort of eyewash.

There you have it, that is the chink in Sharkey's armor. He is too vain, too confident, too cocksure for his own good with a fight with a man Dempsey only a bit more than a week away. Off-hand the writer would suggest that Sharkey play safe by going out and mixing with the first buzz saw he can find. Dempsey may be slow but the punch is there, as it was in the beginning, is now and forever shall be, world without end.

The lad, too, is tougher than a night in jail, or at least, he was. Anyhow, Sharkey has no reason to believe that he is not and if he bets his hand any other way, he only will be trying to play another man's game, which may be possible but has not been done this year.

Sharkey Is Fast

His own hand is good enough to play, as it lies, Sharkey is a fast man, with a good left hand, a smart, shifty boxer. Dempsey never could play ball with the kid, as witness his fights with Gibbons and Tunney and his training camp bouts with the late Harry Greb. Allow him to plant his feet and let fly and the Willards, Fultons, Carl Morrises and what not are cut down like so much cattle with a meat axe. But the mobile target seems to have him winging, particularly the target that can tip him off balance with an irritating left hand.

The latter happens to be a reasonably accurate description of Jack Sharkey as he is under normal conditions. But the man is vain, almost contemptuous. He knows he can ride a punch and often does it with his hands down in disdain. Personally, I would rather ride a boa constrictor, bare back than one of Dempsey's punches. The ride might take me further away than I wanted to go.

Sharkey showed in his fight with Wills, McTigue and Maloney that he is a gambler at heart, when stung, he will last out in a wild exchange of swings, evidently imbued with the notion that the man who dared to punch him on the nose had somehow, affronted his dignity.

That is just the sort of an idea that must be thrown well out of the fifth story window before stepping in with Dempsey. Like Charlie White, the old lightweight, he asks nothing better than that you remain, as is over any period of time and try to slug it out with him. He knows that he has the guns and you have the greater vulnerability and, barring accidents, he just cannot go wrong.

In view of this state of affairs, someone would do Sharkey a positive favor if he fastened his index finger in Jack's button-hole long enough to convince him that Dempsey's game is strictly his own. It is dynamite to the man who plays it with him, and as to that, there is not the slightest necessity for Sharkey to do it.

He is, admittedly, a fast man, all right, let him prove it for the first four or five rounds. After that he can afford to take occasional fling since the longer the fight goes the less chance Dempsey will have.

The Pacific coast will have two formidable entries in the senior national A. A. U. swimming championships for women, to be held at the Biltmore Shores Yacht club on Long Island the last week of July. They are Miss Dorothy Poynton of Hollywood, one of the leading divers of the Pacific Coast association, and Mrs. Lily Mae Bowman of Santa Monica, who will compete in the sprints.

DEMPSEY'S MAIN VICTIMS
Jess Willard in three rounds.
Georges Carpentier in four rounds.
Louis Firpo in two rounds.

SHARKEY'S BIG VICTORIES
Mike McTigue, technical k. o.
Harry Wills, won on foul.
Jim Maloney in five rounds.

AND WHICH ONE WILL SPELL RIVAL'S DOOM?

A right to the heart of Jess Willard started Jack Dempsey's reign as heavyweight champion. It was this same crushing right that helped beat down Georges Carpentier and Luis Firpo. Jim Maloney, clever and rugged, went down for good in th fifth round before the crushing left of Jack Sharkey, who meets Dempsey July 21 for the right to meet Tunney, Dempsey's successor. Both Jacks have visions of putting over the "big punch." Who will?

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

While the public in general is more or less steamed up over the coming fight between Jacks, Sharkey and Dempsey a little item tucked in the bottom of a sport page at hand draws out attention and some thought.

It recites how Young Stribling, Georgia's pride and joy had to be content the other night with a victory on a foul over Chuck Wiggins of Indianapolis.

No young heavy ever started out with greater promise than Stribling. Nursed by his boxing loving father and boosted to the skies by the prideful folk of Georgia he started out with every advantage. His early bouts vindicated the faith his home folk had in him. His much discussed fight with Mike McTigue which resulted in a "gun decision' placed Stribling before boxing world. He rode to fame and important money seemed wide open to him.

But he never "arrived." Given opportunities in New York, he fizzled. A campaign in the sticks would rebuild his stock temporarily. Then would come another poor bout.

In March of 1926 he drew one of a series of "big shots." He was matched with Jimmy Slattery pride of Buffalo and rated as one of the cleverest of the young crop of heavies and light heavies.

Stribling won the decision at the end of ten rounds but the victory was unimpressive. Followed three knockcut victories and two no decision victories in the west and south and then he went back to Gotham to meet Johnny Risko. That was in May.

He outpointed the tough Risko, but there was nothing in the victory to shove him into the limelight.

The following month he met Paul Berlenbach, then light heavyweight champion, in a title bout and failed to trim Paul down in 15 rounds.

He spent the rest of the year roaming the country in search of bouts—that netted him just fair returns in money and little in glory.

Early this year came his last real opportunity. He was matched with the veteran Michael McTigue. Stribling's youth and punching power were pitted against Mike's genralship and experience. Stribling had the advantage in weight also.

Mike proceeded to give Stribling a lesson in the rudiments of boxing. The defeat eliminated Stribling from any consideration in the elimination tourney to choose an opponent for Tunney.

Boy Of 15 Now Golf Champion

Edwin McClure Is Golf Champ Of State Of Louisiana

(International News Service)

SHREVEPORT, La., July 11.—The boyhood dream of Edwin McClure, 15-years-old, has been realized and he still is a boy, Edwin is golf champion at last, champion of the state of Louisiana, and the youngest state champion in the United States.

Down here in Louisiana where they play golf the year around, boys start playing at the age of 11 years. That's when Edwin started, in 1922 while he will still in grammar school.

Edwin, still in prep school, has but one hobby—golf. He has played every day since the spring of 1922, in sunshine and in rain, after school, on Saturdays and on the Sabbath alike.

Decides to Win

"I'm going to be a champion," he told his friends on the links. Some laughed. Every day his game seemed to improve.

"Practice makes perfect," he would tell his parents and friends, "and besides I am going to be a champion."

This year he entered the state championship race, the first tournament he had ever played in. Some took him seriously, others laughed.

The last week in June the tournament started. Edwin qualified with a 77, the third lowest score, while there were 175 contenders in the tournament.

People began to watch him. He was shooting par and better at every hole and encouraged himself by saying over and over again:

"I will win."

The Day Comes

The day came. He fought himself into the semi-finals. In the semi-finals he beat Fred Lamprecht, two year champion of Louisiana.

The next day Edwin played the finals, meeting Leroy Ward, of New Orleans.

Records were investigated. The youngest state champion was in Arkansas, where Billie Bridewell, 17 years old, was the state champion.

"You will be the youngest champion of a state of the United States if you win," Edwin was told during the finals play.

"I will win," he replied. He did.

Huff got a double and a triple while Russell, Diffley and Picarro reached third base with long hits. Huff, General and Swinehart stole bases. It was General's first game in left since his departure from the New Castle club of the O. & P. league.

An important change in rules is under consideration by the English Jockey club. This is the "declaration to win". At present, when an owner is running, say, two horses in one race, he can declare to win with one of them. This is often done in big races. In a case like this, if a declared horse is winning, the jockey of the other is entitled to ride to lose, though he must do his best to win if the first choice has obviously no chance.

Practically all of these Cars have been reconditioned and repainted and carry our usual Used Car Guarantee.

As each car is brought up to the selling block the Auctioneer will give a detailed, truthful report regarding its condition, mechanical and otherwise. If the car has any defects whatsoever, he will explain them, and if it is a guaranteed car, Chambers will live up to the guarantee in every way as they always have on cars sold in the past.

We want you to know that you can buy at this Auction Sale with the same assurance of lasting satisfaction that you would have buying at private sale. Chambers will positively guarantee that every sale made at this Auction will be sold as stated above.

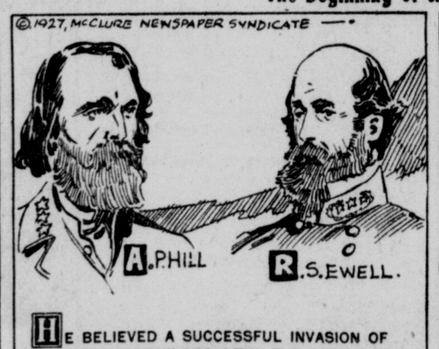
The Beginning of the Gettysburg Campaign.

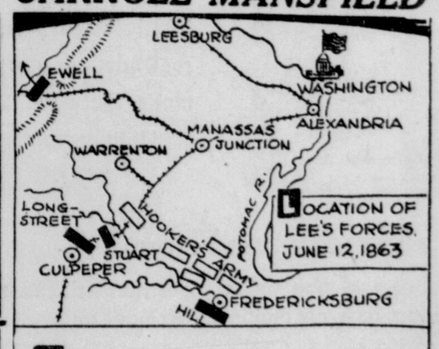
by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

AFTER DEFEATING HOOKER'S UNION ARMY AT CHANCELLORSVILLE, THE CONFEDERATE ARMY OF NORTHERN VIRGINIA WAS EXULTANT AND EAGER FOR NEW TRIUMPHS. HAVING THE GREATEST CONFIDENCE IN HIS TROOPS, GEN. LEE NOW PLANNED TO INVADE MARYLAND AND PENNSYLVANIA AND SHIFT THE SCENE OF FIGHTING TO UNION SOIL.



HE BELIEVED A SUCCESSFUL INVASION OF THE NORTH MIGHT RESULT IN THE CAPTURE OF WASHINGTON OR BALTIMORE AND LEAD TO THE RECOGNITION OF THE CONFEDERACY BY EUROPEAN NATIONS. IN PREPARATION FOR THE CAMPAIGN, LEE STRENGTHENED HIS ARMY AND DIVIDED IT INTO THREE CORPS UNDER THE COMMAND OF LIEUT-GENERALS LONGSTREET, EWELL AND A. P. HILL.

ON JUNE 10, 1863, EWELL'S CORPS SET OUT FROM CULPEPER (VA.) FOR THE SHENANDOAH VALLEY. ADVANCING SWIFTLY, EWELL DROVE THE FEDERALS FROM WINCHESTER AND HARPER'S FERRY, TAKING MANY PRISONERS AND GUNS. HE THEN PRESSED ON THROUGH MARTINSBURG, AND ON JUNE 15 BEGAN CROSSING THE POTOMAC AT WILLIAMSPORT.



A. P. HILL'S CORPS MOVED FROM FREDERICKSBURG AND FOLLOWED EWELL'S ROUTE, BUT CROSSED THE RIVER AT SHEPHERDSTOWN. LONGSTREET BROUGHT UP THE REAR AND BY JUNE 26, LEE'S WHOLE ARMY WAS NORTH OF THE POTOMAC.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 11.—With the market showing activity and a somewhat bullish tendency, early prices in the stock market today were generally firmer, the gains ranging from ¼ to 1½. Speculative attention at the start of the week converged upon United States Steel, in view of the announcement late Saturday of an increase of 2,305 tons in U. S. Steel Corporation's unfilled orders in June. The steel tonnage increase was unexpected, as the trade had been looking for a drop.

United States Steel during early trading this morning was up 1⅛ points at 121 ⅞, the noon price showing a slight loss from the 122⅛ opening price. Crucible Steel advanced ½ to 85 ½.

Other industrial stocks followed the early buoyancy in steel. American Can advanced ⅛ to 58⅝; General Electric gained ½ to 117½; American Sugar was up ½ at 90 and Sears Roebuck gained ¼ at 59.

Care In Handling Milk Is Urged On All Householders

With the advent of hot weather care in the handling of milk becomes one of the problems of the housewife. In leaving the milk bottles at your house in the morning the milk man finishes his job and your responsibility begins. It is up to you to see that the care which has been taken to bring the milk to the home clean, cold and quickly is continued until milk is used.

All the effects of bad milk can be produced by carelessness with good milk after it gets to the home.

There are many simple rules relative to the care of milk which if observed may save a severe attack of illness or even death. These rules should always be followed.

1—Have a special place for the milk to be left, preferably in a box where it is protected from cats dogs, flies and the sun.

2—Take in the milk as soon as possible after it is delivered and place it at once on ice.

3—Do not remove the bottles from the ice box or the milk from the bottles until it is needed for use.

4—With a clean cloth wipe the mouth of the bottle or wash it before pouring out the milk.

5—Be sure all receptables for milk are clean.

6—Pour out from the bottle only such milk as is needed for immediate use and return what is left at once to the ice.

7—Keep the bottles covered in the ice box and do not put them near fish, onions or other things with an odor. Milk readily absorbs flavors and the taste is spoiled.

8—Under no conditions give to children milk that is old or slightly turned. Sour milk can be very well used in cooking.

9—Wash the bottles thoroughly after they are used. Return them promptly to the milkman.

Hanlon Advises Motorists Here Study Auto Rules

"A periodic review of the local and state regulations under which he drives should be the duty of every motorist," says B. N. Hanlon, manager of the New Castle Motor club.

He continues by saying:

"Motorists cannot afford to assume that they are up-to-date in regards to their knowledge of the traffic regulations, especially at the present time, which is marked by such progressive steps in city and state traffic control."

"It is a fact that during the 1927 session of 44 legislatures, 2,600 bills relating to the automobile were introduced. Of this number a great many were passed. How many motorists can say that they are familiar with all of the major changes in the auto code since 1925? Probably very few, but nevertheless they should be. If one person disobeys a certain law on a busy street of any city it is sure to confuse many other motorists," Mr. Hanlon points out.

"The American Automobile association of which the local club is a member has made a survey of the traffic conditions and has found that violations of the traffic code is caused by ignorance of the motorists, which in turn goes back to neglect. The A. A. A. advises the motorists to secure the traffic code and review it at various intervals. This is the basis of safety on city streets" says Mr. Hanlon.

New Method Of Disposing Of Income Taxes

(International News Service)

INDIANA, Pa., July 11.—A new method of disposing of the income tax man has been revealed here through letters from Miss Hilda Stumpf, missionary in East Africa.

Miss Stumpf sent a clipping telling how a Belgian officer and retinue had attempted to induce a native tribe to submit to an income tax. The natives, however, did not appear to relish the idea of paying taxes to the white government.

The morning after an all day conference with the tribal chieftains disclosed an assorted variety of bones and anatomical part that were prandially attractive, where the night before the Belgian officer and his retinue had retired.

Miss Stumpf did not say the natives ate the tax collector, but neither did she say the wild animals in the neighborhood enjoyed a meal that night.

Await Return Of Mayor Kline To Settle Squabble

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—The return of Mayor Charles H. Kline was awaited here today to settle the feud between William L. King, vice crusading director of the Citizens' League of Pittsburgh and Peter P. Walsh, superintendent of police.

Kline promised to announce his answer to the league's demand that Walsh be ousted upon his return to this city. He has been out of town over the week end.

Meanwhile King's fight has extended to the director of public safety, James M. Clark.

In speeches yesterday at three services attended by members of a score of churches King charged Clark was a greater hindrance to the work of the league than Walsh.

Maybe people go to a prosperous specialist because they hope he won't think of tonsils in terms of a new suit.

Fishing Club To Leave On July 27

Solid Comfort Club To Depart For Canada—Mercer News

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., July 11.—The Solid Comfort Fishing Club of Mercer will leave for their camping grounds located on an island in the French River, Canada, on the date of July 27, it is announced today by Q. A. Gordon who will again have charge of the party.

The camp will be the fortieth trip of the club to Canada. It was organized in 1878 the first camp site located in Michigan. In 1880 the party started going to Canada. There have not been camps each year, that of this year being as stated the fortieth trip.

Mr. Gordon who was one of the organizers has not missed a camp.

The members of the party that will make the trip cannot be named as yet as the camp is not fully organized.

A hardware merchant in Fredonia for 55 years is the record of D. B. Robbins of that town.

The period of time has been spent in one location; one business; one town. The period of service is sufficient to make Mr. Robbins the dean of Mercer County merchants.

The late A. J. McKean of this city was engaged in the drug business at the Corner Drug Store for over half a century. The store has been the location of a drug store for almost 100 years.

Blanks are now being sent out from the County Commissioners office to municipal officials. On them are to be written the names of the offices that must be filled by nominations and election this year.

The blanks are also being sent to the townships. They are to be served in the same manner.

Officials of the office request that the blanks be returned here without fail by the date set by law for their receipt July 19th.

This is necessary that the ballots for each township may be properly drawn.

The chronic hospital at the County Home is not to be constructed this year is the announcement today of Stewart T. C. White. The inadequacy of the sum apportioned for the building construction in the budget of the County Commissioners makes this decision necessary.

It was thought at first that the building could be constructed for $100,000. Following the drawing of the plans it was found that the estimated cost would be $175,000.

Even reduction in the plans would still make the estimated cost the sum of $140,000. The hospital was to be a 40 bed affair.

As this size of building was necessary for present and future needs reduction in size was not deemed advisable.

As the need of the building is pressing there is no doubt that its construction will be taken care of later.

Plans for it were drawn by architect Charles Owsley of Youngstown who was the architect that designated the court house.

Dr. S. J. Dickey, County Medical Director is in Crawford County today at the office of Dr. G. B. Faries the Medical Director of that county.

Dr. Faries has been recruited by the state for work on the state health car that is now entour. Dr. Dickey is assigned by the department some of his work while away.

Raising corn in Mercer County is just one vexation after another. With weather conditions now favorable to its growing farmers in this locality are being pestered with a flock of 300 crows that make their headquarters in a pine woods near here and from there sally forth to dine on sprouting corn.

The crop at the County Home had to be planted again due to these scavengers. The complaint is general among the corn growers who are forced to the limit of their ingenuity to provide "scare crows" that will keep them away.

Usually remorse is just the adult equivalent of the feeling a small boy has after eating green apples.

Americanism: A masculine nose on a grindstone, held there by a well-dressed woman's thumb.

Kiwanians To Meet At Boy Scout Camp Thursday Evening

A big meet of the Kiwanis Club of New Castle will be held at the Boy Scout camp on Thursday evening, July 14, which will be featured by a dinner at 6:30 furnished by the ladies of the camp and the dedication of the Kiwanis Hut and the Kiwanis Pier.

Besides the dinner the evening will be spent in sports, singing led by Sam Lewis and Chester Reynolds to which all Kiwanians, their family and friends are invited. The dedication includes the hut built by the club last year and a new pier.

On account of the meeting Thursday evening there will be no meeting at Wednesday noon, July 13. Next Wednesday, July 20, the program committee has secured J. M. Dunlap, probation officer for the county of Lawrence to speak of the duties and problems of a Juvenile Court officer.

In order to know how many will be able to take advantage of the evening's program Thursday at the Boy Scout camp each member of the club will be seen by Wednesday by some member of the committee to find out how many will be in each party.

For those that can go earlier in the afternoon golf is promised for the golfer and a trip over the camp where the Kiwanis troop is before the supper would be worthwhile.
